U.S. WARNING REJECTED BY GERMANY

Greater Part Of French Fleet Now In British Hands

Surly Retort Is Made By Nazis To Cordell Hull

Berlin Advises American Republics To Refrain From Interference With European Affairs—Simulates Innocence

By HOBART C. MONTEE

British United Press, Exclusive to Edmonton Bulletin

WASHINGTON, July 5.—The German government, in a formal note made public by the state department today, rejected Secretary of State Cordell Hull's warning to keep hands off the western hemisphere. Hitler's government at the same time, however, said Germany had not indicated any desire to interfere in the western hemisphere or to seek territory here.

The Berlin foreign office said it could not see why the American "hands off" warning had been addressed to Germany.

Berlin coupled the rejection with a declaration that if American republics expected to obtain respect for the principles outlined in the Monroe Doctrine of non-interference with American affairs by European nations, America should refrain from interference in Europe.

The German note was made public together with the official comment on it by Cordell Hull.

"I feel no useful purpose will be served now for the United States to undertake further communication with Germany on the subject," Hull said.

"The fundamental questions involved are entirely clear to all the peoples and governments of American republics and undoubtedly, as well, to the majority of governments and peoples of the rest of the world."

NO IMPLICATION

Hull's statement, after asserting that the Monroe Doctrine is solely a defense policy, added that the "Munroe Doctrine contains not the slightest vestige of implication, much less assumption, of hegemony on the part of the United States. It never has resembled and does not today resemble the policies which are rising in other parts of the world claiming to be like the Munroe Doctrine."

Hull charged these docirines, instead of resting on defence policies and respect for existing neighbors, seem to be a pretext for carrying out conquest by the

Navy Covering French Forces In Alexandria

British Authorities Declare No French Ship Shall Ever Leave Port To Fall Into Hands Of Enemy

LONDON, July 5.—The Daily Herald said today that "nearly 250 French warships—the greater part of what was the second biggest fleet in Europe—have fallen into British hands."

ALEXANDRIA, July 5.—British sources here today described the situation of the French fleet at Alexandria as "in abeyance," and said:

"We do not know what will happen or when the French will make a decision. We only know that no French ship shall ever leave Alexandria to surrender to the enemy."

Naval sources emphasized the French are "deeply affected" by the fighting between French and British warships yesterday at Oran and Mers El Kebir, but British officers declared they had the situation here "well in hand".

British naval circles expressed regret over the action taken against the French at Oran and the hope that no such incident would occur here.

French commanders here have been advised formally by the British authorities that "They cannot

LONDON, July 5. — Roger Cambon, the French charge d'affaires, was reliably reported tonight to have sent his resignation to the French government after delivering a "stern" protest from that government to the foreign office over the British naval attack on the French Mediterranean fleet.

Cambon was understood to have told Foreign Secretary Viscount Halifax that he was resigning his post. The French ambassador, Charles Corbin, resigned last week, and since then Cambon has been in charge of the embassy.

leave the harbor to fall into the power of the German conquerors of France."

British officials said the admiralty had offered "fullest facilities to all French officers and men at Alexandria who wish to continue the war."

This was interpreted here to mean that the French cutomatically would receive pay equal to British seamen if they continue to fight.

All French officers and crewmen remained aboard their vessels today.

NEW FINANCE MINISTER TO BE ANNOUNCED

Hon. J. L. Ralston To Be Sworn In To Defence Post

OTTAWA, July 5.—A new finance minister will be announced on Monday and Hon. J. L. Ralston, present minister, will be sworn in as minister of national defence late today, Prime Minister Mackenzie King informed the Commons today.

The prime minister also intimated that he will make a statement regarding other changes in the government when he announces the new finance minister.

In parliamentary circles Revenue Minister Ilsley, who has frequently acted as finance minister and who brought down the budget at the special war session last September, has been mentioned as Col. Ralston's probable successor.

King said he had hoped debate on the budget, delivered by Col. Ralston a week ago last Monday in his capacity as finance minister, would be shortened. Col. Ralston had remained in the house during the debate in order to answer any points raised but had been giving his whole time, apart from that spent in the house to urgent matters in the department of national defence.

If the budget debate could not be ended this afternoon, he said, in fairness to Col. Ralston, he would go to the governor-general and be sworn in.

Conservative Leader Hanson said he had urged a speedy passage of the budget immediately after its delivery and offered to co-operate to that end. He fully agreed that Col. Ralston should be released from listening to further speeches on the budget.

REPUBLIC OF FRANCE FACES GRAVE DANGER

Nazis Exert Pressure To Drag Country Within Totalitarian Orbit

By J. W. T. MASON

British United Press Exclusive Cable To The Edmonton Bulletin

Marshal Petain's action in convening a national assembly to revise the French constitution shows how pressure of Nazi influences is being used to drag France within the totalitarian orbit. The third republic, formed as the result of France's defeat in the Franco-Prussian war, is now facing possible danger as the consequence of France's second capitulation to Germany.

From the time of the French revolution to the present, France has been governed by one reign of terror, one director, one consulate, two empires, two monarchies and three republics. Whether the constantly changing state structure will now find a new form, republican in name but non-parliamentary in fact, awaits the outcome of the deliberations of the national assembly.

Marshal Petain and some of his ministers are known to believe that parliamentary government along

DALADIER IS SAID MISSING ABOARD SHIP

LONDON, July 5.—The German-controlled Brussels radio in a broadcast heard here reported today that the 15,363-ton French liner Massilia, which left Bordeaux June 16 with Former French Premier Edouard Daladier aboard, was overdue and missing.

The broadcast said that former French Minister of Education Delbos and former Minister of the Interior Mandel also were aboard the ship.

The report added that they left France intending to continue French resistance against Germany in conjunction with former Premier Reynaud, that the ship sought unsuccessfully to enter several ports and last was heard from "still at sea" several days ago.

The newspaper Petit Dauphinois at Grenoble, France, reported on July 2 that the Massilia had headed for Morocco bearing Daladier, his son Jean, Minister of Interior Mandel, Minister of Education Delbos, a number of undersecretaries and prominent members of parliament including Josef Denais and M. De La Grondiere.

REFUSED LANDING

Petit Dauphinois said then that General Nogues, resident-general of Morocco, prevented the Massilia from landing at Casablanca and that the liner later was stopped at sea after it had been "practically missing" for almost a week and ordered to return to a French port.

(No word of the ship came from other sources.)

R. A. F. SCORES HITS ON NAZI AIRPORTS, SHIPS

LONDON, July 5.—Tonight's air ministry communique said that the Royal Air Force yesterday bombed Hamm and Emmerich in the Ruhr and also scored hits on hangars at the Amsterdam and Brussels airports.

The German naval bases at Kiel, Wilhelmshaven and Emden also were attacked last night, the communique said.

Aircraft of the coastal command yesterday and today attacked and damaged German patrol vessels off the coast of Holland.

Sweden Permits Germany To Use Rails To Norway

STOCKHOLM, July 5.—Sweden today granted Germany the right to move supplies, including war materials, over Swedish railways to Norway. German soldiers on leave also may cross to and from their posts and home via Sweden by special trains, a foreign office communique said.

Most Precious Cargo Ever Consigned Lands At Port Of Montreal

By JACK BRAYLEY

Canadian Press Staff Writer

MONTREAL, July 5.—A proud pied piper with a musical chuckle led an eager, trusting band of children to Canada and safety, wiped the perspiration from his brow and declared with gusto: "You're the snuggest and best cargo a skipper ever had. . . . God bless you all."

Captain Robert Pert, R.N.R., a native of Glasgow, had made his first and only speech in his 30 years and more at sea. It was a speech he just had to make. But like the good Scot he is he was saving on words.

He had been presented with an address of appreciation, scrawled on ship's letterheads in the bold and awkward hand of his young passengers who are child guests of Canada for the duration of the war.

TIRED BUT HAPPY

They trundled down the gangplank at Montreal last night—nearly 650 of them—tired but happy, and all eyes for the big red-coated mounties who policed the bustling baggage shed.

And watching with a wistful smile was Captain Pert. In his hand was a treasure for his seachest. It was the letter of appreciation which bore the signature and age of every one of his young charges.

They followed the advice of the warning notices which told them not to give away naval secrets and they addressed their letter to the captain of "the Late June Extra"—the Admiralty's designation of the famous liner which brought the children to Canada.

The letter also mentioned "the purser and the purseretes," "the bo-sun and the bo-father," "the cook and the cookees," and ended with "We children on our way to wonderful Canada thank you very, very much indeed for being so nice to us."

Canada Is Marshalling Every Resource In War To Blot Hitler's Power

By The Canadian Press

A close-up view of Canada's war effort was presented this week to millions of United States newspaper readers by The Associated Press which sent a staff writer to Canada for a two-weeks' study of defence preparations. The A.P. man, John Lear, dealt in four articles with the war threat against Canada, enlargement of the Royal Canadian navy, the air training program and the mobilization of industry.

American readers were told in detail of defence plans to guard Canada in case of German attack. Lear described the dominion as "the richest territorial prize on the face of the globe today except for the United States." He added:

"It is the biggest chunk of the British Empire (27 per cent). Its people are independent. Like their neighbors in the United States, they show their hate for Hitler's form of government. They are marshalling every resource of their land to stop him. If he should defeat England, they say, 'we'll carry on the fight from here.'"

EVERY PRECAUTION

Lear wrote that Canadian officials expect one of Hitler's next moves will be to send ships and submarines into this side of the Atlantic to cut off the convoys and blockade the British Isles. He found that every precaution has been taken against this possibility and cited the sending of Canadian soldiers to Newfoundland and Iceland and the patrol of the Atlantic coast by planes, ships and men.

The Associated Press writer was impressed by the speed with which the Royal Canadian Navy was increased in 12 months from a fleet of 15 ships to one comprising more than 100 ships, including big armed merchant cruisers. Ninety more are being built.

Canada's determination, he wrote, is not to let the burden of her first line of defence fall either on the United States protection guaranteed by the Monroe doctrine, or on the British fleet. In fact, the dominion had already reversed the usual procedure and sent warships to English waters to defend the motherland—the first time in history that had been done.

MOST GRUELLING JOB

He went on:

"By far the most gruelling and hazardous job is the convoy which herds as many as 50 or 60 supply boats at a time from Canada to

BLITZKRIEG ON BRITISH ISLE IS IMMINENT

Dive Bombers and Messerschmitts Appear Over England

By DAN CAMPBELL

British United Press Exclusive Cable To The Edmonton Bulletin

LONDON, July 5—Britain tightened her defenses today against the imminence of German invasion. The hour of a large-scale attack was believed drawing near after the first mass raid by Stuka dive-bombers was attempted yesterday on the important naval base at Portland.

Today the coastal defense area was broadened to include the entire east coast south of The Wash in Lincolnshire and the south coast as far west as Portland.

New orders by the home office incorporated in the defense area the entire county of Sussex including Brighton, Eastbourne and Bognor, a larger part of Hampshire, including Portsmouth and Southampton, the Isle of Wight and part of Dorset.

EVACUATE CHILDREN

Plans were announced for evacuation from east and northeast coast towns over the weekend of another 40,000 children.

The air ministry reported that a Dornier "Flying Pencil" was shot down off the coast in an attempted raid today and its crew captured. It reported that R.A.F. planes had bombed and sunk five submarines during June.

ELEVEN KILLED

Eleven persons were killed in the Stuka attack on Portland yesterday. Messerschmitt fighters also participated in yesterday's raids on Britain.

AIRPLANE RAIDS ON GIBRALTAR UNSUCCESSFUL

GIBRALTAR July 5—Airplanes attacked Gibraltar three times without success today in the first air raids of the war on the rock.

The raids started in the early hours. Searchlights went into action. Several bombs were dropped but all fell into the sea and there were no casualties and no damage.

In the third raid a plane was seen attempting to make a dive-bombing attack but was driven off by shore batteries.

Iraq Oil Protected

LONDON, July 5.—Authoritative circles said today that action was taken three weeks ago to prevent any of the valuable oil supplies in the Mosul oilfields in Iraq from falling into German or Italian hands. Passage of oil through the pipe line connecting Mosul wells with Tripoli in the French mandated territory of Syria has been "interrupted" for the past three weeks.

ROYAL NAVY BLOCKADING MARTINIQUE

Fighting Imminent As Island Authorities Side With Petain

By LYLE C. WILSON

British United Press Exclusive to Edmonton Bulletin

WASHINGTON, July 5.—French sources in Washington said today that the French island of Martinique, off the coast of Venezuela, had been blockaded by British cruisers and that fighting might be imminent.

The sources said the island authorities had sided with the Petain government and that the British sought to prevent a shipment of American airplanes which had been delivered to the island from California from falling into German control.

The island has some French submarines in its harbor and a number of smaller craft. There is a force of French marines on the island. Some French gold also is stored there.

It was reported that some of the American airplanes had been unerated and might be in a position to take part in the fight if it should materialize.

Governor of the island is Admiral Robert and Major-General Mac-Donald and Magoon.

BILL PROVIDES DEATH PENALTY FOR TREACHERY

OTTAWA, July 5.—Prime Minister Mackenzie King gave notice in today's house votes and proceedings that on Monday he will introduce a bill in the Commons providing the death penalty for treachery and life imprisonment for acts to assist the enemy.

The measure will be called "The Treachery Act."

This action follows presentation to the Commons by the committee investigating the Defence of Canada regulations of a report which recommended such penalties. The committee's chairman is Revenue Minister Ilsley.

A draft bill, presented with the committee report and on which the prime minister's bill will be based, gives wide powers to the authorities for suppression of intended acts against the interests of His Majesty's forces or for assisting the enemy.

Under the heading "Death Penalty for Treachery," is is provided that notwithstanding other regulations any person who attempts or conspires with any other person

Simon Bowes-Lyon, who call the Queen "Aunt Elizabeth." Some of the children who were too young had their names recorded by nurses, others made attempts which were unintelligible. All of them were precise on one point—their ages. For instance, "John Tremblay 7¾." Some neglected to sign their surnames and others proudly wrote their full signature like, "Richard Hugh Seabohm Rattray James Adamson 13¼."

They lined the deck as the ship was nudged toward the dock, waved to the longshoremen swinging the lines, gasped at the size of the grain elevator, gasped at the size of the "goods trains"; gasped at the sight of Montreal's tall skyline and smiled back at the friendly faces waiting to take them off to their new homes.

As soon as the baggage had been unloaded they charged down the gangplank into the arms of their new friends. Excited English and Canadian accents were mixed up, babies began to cry and the din grew in proportion as the baggage was moved.

MILK, COOKIES SERVED

Then a squad of efficient volunteer workers, wearing red crosses, walked through the confusion serving milk and cookies. The crying stopped and the excitement began to fade as the children stretched out on steamer rugs and slept while waiting for their names to be found and passed customs.

One tired young Scot, complete with kilt and sporran, paused himself as his young pink-cheeked sister dumped a final suitcase at his feet with "gonna now Malcolm, be kind gentleman's waiting to take us," and here she paused and looked wistful and then concluded, "... home."

sword, of military occupation, and of complete economic and political domination by certain powers of other free and independent peoples.

"It has been made clear that any further transfer of dominions in the western hemisphere to another non-American power would be regarded as inimical by the United States. This is the basic policy of the United States government," the state secretary said.

"The government of the United States will neither recognize nor acquiesce, as Germany has been told already, to the transfer of western hemisphere territory to a non-American power."

NON-INVOLVEMENT

Continuing Hull said, "the governments of the United States pursues a policy of non-participation and non-involvement in purely political affairs in Europe. It will, however, continue to co-operate, as it has in the past, with all other nations whenever the policies of such nations make it possible and whenever it believes such efforts are practicable, and in its own best interests, toward the purpose of promoting economic, commercial and social rehabilitation and advancing the cause of international law and order of which the entire world stands so tragically in need today."

Nazi activities in Uruguay and Mexico and the evidence unearthed of an attempt to overthrow the Uruguayan government by a Nazi putsch, are believed to be behind the strong stand taken by the United States.

England. The nerve strain on this assignment is terrific; there is constant danger of submarine and air attack, and constant tension among the caravan is too dangerous to risk.

"Canada's part in sea war does not end with the Canadian navy. Seamen and officers have been placed in the British navy at so rapid a rate that before long there will be as many Canadians there as were in the Canadian navy before the war.

"Credit for the speed of the transformation belongs chiefly to Rear Admiral Percy Nelles, Canadian naval chief. He had all his defences laid out on paper in advance, and he executed them smoothly and quickly."

Lear wrote that the naval expansion program is a long range one contemplating the possibility—"an unbelievable possibility among Canadians"—that the British home fleet might be forced to retire to these waters.

Lear found that Canada is girding for air war on Hitler's terms.

CANADA WORLD POWER

Lear said the question now is not of pilots, but of planes, and Canada looks to the United States to supply these machines because England needs all her own for herself. Canada is not yet ready to produce at the necessary rate, he said.

No matter what side wins the war, the Associated Press writer declared, "one thing seems almost certain: Canada will be more important as a world power."

"If Hitler should succeed in his threat to overrun the British Isles, the American continent would become the new capital of the British Commonwealth of Nations," he said.

"If England should gain the upper hand, the seat of empire would most likely remain where it is, but there are all sorts of indications that Canada has embarked on the path to greater influence as a result of her war effort."

Canada's mobilization of men and resources, Lear wrote:

"Conscription of manpower is a part of this mobilization scheme. It requires every man to fight, if necessary, to defend his country. But it does not compel any Canadian to fight to defend Europe. That action overseas must be voluntary.

"The reason for this is that a large section of Canada is French, and these Frenchmen always have fought against being impressed into war for the British. They are loyal to King George, and they will go to war for him, but they insist on doing it of their own free will. Prime Minister Mackenzie King will prevent any split in the Dominion's united front against the Germans, left them free to make the choice."

BRITAIN NOW HAS BULK OF FRENCH FLEET

ern Mediterranean port, where a strong British battle fleet lay poised overnight. The formidable French force whose commander apparently was undecided whether to comply with a British ultimatum for co-operation.

(The Petain government of France had ordered the French warships at Alexandria to fight their way home through the British lines. Hitler gave permission for the scuttling of the ships if necessary to avoid capture by Britain.)

OUTWARDLY CALM

Although the ultimatum was delivered as long ago as Wednesday, everything was outwardly calm in the harbor of Alexandria today, dispatches said. No information was made public on the future of the French units there.

More French warships—in addition to those taken over by the Royal navy in a spectacular coup Wednesday — were reported to have anchored in Scottish waters, increasing the size of the fleet seized.

Prime Minister Churchill told parliament yesterday that "the greater part" of the French fleet has been put under British control. The Daily Herald said nearly 250 French warships had fallen into British hands. Commentators took it for granted that the seized units, described by Churchill as "extremely useful," would augment Britain's sea power.

900 VOLUNTEER

At least it was considered certain that the ships whose crews volunteered to fight with Britain would join the British fleet for active service. Churchill disclosed that some 800 to 900 French officers and seamen already had so volunteered.

The first lord of the admiralty, A. V. Alexander, in a broadcast last night, said the actions announced by Mr. Churchill yesterday represented only "the first steps" to make sure that the enemy did not get possession of the French warships.

Mr. Churchill himself made it plain that the British navy everywhere would act to this end. He said:

"The house will not expect me to say anything about the other French ships which are at large except that it is our inflexible resolve to do everything possible in order to prevent them from falling into Axis hands."

What Britain is ready to do was shown plainly at Oran, Algeria, where the French commander refused the British terms. The biggest naval battle of the war developed on the spot.

BRITAIN CONFIDENT

Britain felt confident that the French ships at Alexandria would not fall to Germany or Italy.

Mr. Churchill told parliament that the French force, including an undisclosed number of battleships, four cruisers and a number of smaller ships, had been "informed that they cannot be permitted to leave harbor and thus fall within the power of the German conqueror of France."

British confidence that the French ships would not escape was based in part on the fate of the French force at Oran.

ONLY ONE ESCAPED

After bloody fighting, only one ship, one of the 26,500-ton Strasbourg battle cruiser class, escaped, and that badly damaged, is presumed to have been put out of action for months.

The action off Oran also resulted in the sinking of one battleship of the 22,189-ton Bretagne class and the heavy damaging of another, the sinking and beaching of the second battle cruiser of the 26,500-ton Strasbourg class, the sinking or burning of a seaplane carrier and the sinking or burning of two destroyers.

British welcomed seizure of the French ships. The News Chronicle's naval expert, Hector Bywater, said that "our own fleet has been heavily reinforced in every type of ship."

"I speak from personal knowledge," he continued, "when I say that the modern French navy is, as regards material, second to none in excellence of design and workmanship.

"The French navy personnel, too, consisting of Bretons, is considerably superior to the Italian, and it is therefore much to be hoped that a large proportion of these officers and men have remained loyal to their service."

NAZI RAIDS CONTINUE

German air raiding of th British Isles continued. One lone raider flew across the southeast coast after daylight, but was pursued and shot down before any bombs were dropped.

There were attacks during the night, but the government announced its reports indicated damage was "very light," and that there were no casualties.

During these raids planes dropped incendiary bombs in northeast England, causing a series of small fires on Scotch moorlands. Bombs were dropped on open ground without damage to southwest England.

DAYLIGHT RAID

These attacks followed a daring daylight raid yesterday by 20 or more German planes against the big British naval base at Portland. A naval auxiliary vessel, a tug and a lighter were destroyed.

There were an undetermined number of casualties. It was said that two of the attackers may have been shot down at sea.

French Admiralty Admits Losses

GENEVA, July 5—A French admiralty communique said today the French battleship Bretagne was blown up, and the battleships Dunkerque and Provence and the flotilla leader Mogador set on fire during the battle with the British fleet yesterday at Mers El-Kebir. The communique agreed generally with the facts given by Prime Minister Churchill.

Small French Force In Alexandria

LONDON, July 5—The portion of the French fleet in Alexandria harbor is comparatively small, a usually reliable source said today.

The disposition of the French fleet at the beginning of the week was reported approximately this:

One third in British ports.
One third at Oran.
One sixth at Casablanca.
One sixth at Alexandria.

Two units of the French navy now are in Scottish waters, it was said.

Other authoritative circles in London said some French vessels under construction in northern France were towed to Britain with skilled workmen aboard.

REPUBLIC OF FRANCE FACES GRAVE DANGER

full democratic liberty has broken down in France. The French army holds France's political inefficiency responsible for the lack of military preparedness which led to the present disaster. Corruption, favoritism, lack of cohesion and support of private interests against the welfare of the state are charged by the army against the politicians.

Marshal Petain, with the army at his back, is taking the first steps to subordinate the political parties by planning a revised constitution which will give the executive department of the government a free hand in domestic and foreign policies. If he were not so old, Petain would loom as "The man on horseback" a personal dictator of the Napoleon type, which the third republic has always feared.

CANNOT TAKE COMMAND

Fortunately for the French democracy, however, Petain's age of 84 makes it impossible for him to develop the energy necessary in a personal dictator. He can give directions and issue orders but he cannot take personal command as Hitler, Mussolini and Stalin. France has no other leader in public life of sufficient strength and ability to seize power and exercise unrestrained control over the nation.

Any move toward totalitarianism, therefore, must differ from the one man sway that exists in Germany, Italy and Russia. The French temperament is too volatile to accept absolutist rule. At the same time France has grown weary of political misgovernment and the instability of its ministries to command.

At the same time, France has grown weary of political mis-government and the instability of its ministries to command parliamentary majorities for more than a few months at a time. France requires strong rule to government above all else if there is to be recovery from the effects of the war.

FUNDAMENTAL ISSUE

How to obtain a stable form will be the fundamental issue before the national assembly when it meets to change the constitution. Germans and Italians want to see France go completely their way and if a leader of commanding personality suddenly were to come forward in France, with Germans backing, the third republic might be overthrown. But, there is no sign, as yet, of this catastrophe to transAtlantic democracy.

Modification of the French constitution limiting the initiative of parliament and its control over industries seems probable, without establishing a real dictatorship. Whether that will be only a temporary surrender of legislative powers must await the final outcome of the war. The chances, however, greatly favor a return to democracy in France, in a more stable form after peace has come to Europe.

NEW YORK, July 4.—"If there ever was a country ripe for revolution it is France today," says Ralph Dela Aye Paine, Jr., head of the European staff of Time and Life magazines, in an article published in Life today. Describing the collapse of French resistance, Paine writes in an article cabled from Lisbon:

"France was not conquered in 43 days. France collapsed in 43 days. The French defeated themselves and they know it.

"There was relatively little fifth column activity. The basic sin for which the French are now being punished was their long tolerance of stupid, bureaucratic, corrupt, selfish, hopelessly ineffective leadership."

LONDON, July 5.—The announcement said today that Royal Air Force planes had attacked five German U-boats in five days of June and were believed to have been sunk or "in all cases."

In one instance, the ministry said, bombs were dropped on the starboard beam of a submarine in the North Sea as it was submerging after which two large dark round oil patches were observed. The plane circled for three hours but the submarine did not reappear.

On another occasion the Australian crew of a Sunderland flying boat dropped six bombs close to the port bow of a submarine silhouetted below the surface. A mass of oil bubbles appeared and oil patches grew larger as the plane circled.

The ministry said a third submarine was bombed while the conning tower still was a few feet above the surface. The bombs fell just ahead of the conning tower. A direct hit was made on a fourth submarine as it was coming to the surface. Two bombs hit it on the port and starboard beam and large oil patches appeared in two minutes.

The fifth submersible was bombed a few seconds after it submerged.

BILL PROVIDES DEATH PENALTY FOR TREACHERY

to do an act which is likely "to give assistance to the naval, military or air operations of the enemy, to impede such operations of His Majesty's forces, or to endanger life shall be guilty and shall upon conviction suffer death."

LIFE TERM PROVIDED

With respect to acts alone, with intent to assist the enemy, the draft bill provides "Any person who does any act which is likely to assist the enemy or to prejudice public safety, the defence of Canada, or the efficient prosecution of the war he shall upon conviction be liable to imprisonment for life."

The draft bill provides that no person convicted of treachery shall be granted bail pending appeal.

Any peace officer may arrest without warrant any person whom he has reasonable grounds for suspecting of having committed, or of having about to commit, any offence against the act.

ISSUE WARRANT

If a justice of the peace is satisfied that an offence has been committed, or is about to be committed, he may issue a warrant for search of premises and search of all inmates.

An enemy alien, defined as a person who possesses the nationality of a state at war with His Majesty, may, upon direction of the justice minister, be interned for an offence against the act by courts martial, and treated as thought he were a member of a military force.

If anyone convicted of treachery is, in the view of the justice minister, a member of a military force, who has been found guilty of treachery, he may be shot rather than hanged.

The draft bill provides for expedition in the handling of cases of persons charged with treachery.

Warrants for search of premises may be obtained from any commissioned officer of the Royal Canadian Mounted Police, who are for the purpose of the act appointed justices of the peace.

British Oilmen Ordered Depart

BUCHAREST, July 5.—The new Rumanian government of Premier Ion Gigurtu set a new 24-hour time limit today for departure of British oilmen.

British sources said the new order applied to 30 field executives.

The British legation last night won a temporary suspension against the first such order but said its protest against today's ruling had been unavailing.

One British official said:

"This begins to look more and more like the first step toward nationalization of the oil fields and industry."

New Soviet Troops Are In Bessarabia

BUDAPEST, July 5.—Reports that new Soviet troops and mechanized equipment have arrived in Bessarabia, which province ceded to Russia by Rumania, sharpened tension in the Balkans today and led to the belief that Moscow is planning new demands on Rumania.

In Sofia, Bulgaria, circles close to the Soviet said Russia was taking a distinctly stern stand toward political developments and internal disorders in Rumania, where pro-axis Premier Ion Gigurtu formed a new government yesterday.

Moscow was said to be particularly disturbed over reports that 300 workmen were killed in a recent military action against demonstrations at Galati in Rumania.

Sofia political circles took the view the new Rumanian government was confronted with an extremely difficult task in consolidating public opinion and restoring order. Doubts were raised in some quarters that the conflicting interests could be reconciled.

The Budapest press generally regarded the revision of the Bucharest government as a frantic last-minute effort to board the axis bandwagon and was skeptical as to the success of such measures.

Two Acclamations

LONDON, July 5.—John McLay, Liberal National, was returned to the House of Commons from Montrose by acclamation today to fill the seat vacated by Col. Charles Kerr following his elevation to the peerage. William Munn, Conservative, was returned by acclamation from West Newcastle.

Royal Navy Action Not Against France Premier Declares

OTTAWA, July 5.—Prime Minister Mackenzie King told the House of Commons today that action of the Royal Navy against the French fleet yesterday "cannot be regarded as directed against France; rather was it action against ships that already, for all practical purposes, were German and Italian instruments of war."

The British government acted under the compulsion of its great responsibility for the preservation of the liberties of the world, Mr. King said.

BLITZKRIEG ON BRITISH ISLE IS IMMINENT

range is limited, emphasized the closeness of the German air bases in France, Belgium and Holland, where Hitler is expected to launch his promised blitzkrieg.

A German Dornier "Flying Pencil" appeared over the southeast coast shortly after dawn today and after reportedly dropping four bombs on a rural district was chased out to sea and shot down by British Spitfires. The crew of four was rescued and taken prisoner.

A joint communique from the ministries of air and home security said that "enemy bombers carried out a few raids on a few districts in northeast, southeast and southwest England last night" and that first reports indicated slight damage and no casualties.

BATTLE ALL DAY

But British and German planes battled over England all day yesterday, in single combat and mass flights. It was estimated that at least four Germans were shot down.

The biggest fight was over Portland where British Spitfires and Hurricanes rose to battle Stukas and Messerschmitt 109's. At least two of a squadron of 20 German planes were shot down and a third slipped out to sea, badly damaged. The raiders dropped incendiary bombs.

The British announced the loss of an auxiliary vessel but said other damage was of minor nature.

The air battles continued until nightfall, sometimes ranging far inland where the peaceful countryside was subjected to sprays of machine-gun bullets from the whirling planes.

Reynaud Seriously Hurt In Accident

CLERMOND-FER'AND, France, July 2—(Delayed)—Paul Reynaud former premier of France, suffered serious head injuries June 28 in an automobile accident in the south of France, according to reports to official French quarters here. The reports said he had not regained consciousness yesterday (July 1).

BEAVERBROOK'S SON AWARDED FLYING CROSS

LONDON, July 5. — Squadron-Leader Max Aitken of the Auxiliary Air Force, son and heir of Lord Beaverbrook, minister for aircraft production, has been awarded the Distinguished Flying Cross.

The Air Ministry in its formal announcement paid tribute to Aitken's dash and gallantry.

The citation read:

"In May whilst leading a section of aircraft on patrol over Brussels this officer attacked one of 12 Heinkel 111's which was finally seen to be losing height with one of its wings on fire and with black smoke pouring from the other. Next day when leading his section on another patrol a large number of Heinkel 111's and Dornier 17 aircraft escorted by Messerschmitt 110's were sighted. Squadron-Leader Aitken attacked and succeeded in destroying one Heinkel and one Junkers aircraft. During a night raid in June in difficult circumstances he destroyed yet another enemy aircraft."

Max Aitken was born in Montreal in 1910 and was married last year to Cynthia Montieth. Before the war he joined the 601 fighter squadron of the Auxiliary Air Force—the so-called "Weekend Fliers," who have performed heroically since the all-out warfare began in May.

Royal Navy Action Serves Notice No Peace Talk Planned

By KIRKE L. SIMPSON
Associated Press Staff Writer

WASHINGTON, July 5.—Britain has served final notice on Germany, on defeat-bowed France and upon the world that she scorns peace talk and is resolved to fight it out with her Nazi foe.

That is the lesson to be read first of all into stern British action to seize or destroy the French fleet. It was the essence of Prime Minister Churchill's weekend outlining in Parliament and to the world for the order that loosed Britain's guns against that part of the French navy that refused the surrender-or-scuttle ultimatum.

The immediate result made July 4 a tragic date in Franco-British annals. It marks complete rupture between Britain and the "Bordeaux government" of France—a government which surrendered to Germany on terms that Mr. Churchill and his cabinet deemed a knife thrust in the back of its British ally.

NO FLEET REMAINS

Part of France is now also at war with Britain under the order the Petain ministry issued its fleet to fight its way through British naval forces to French home ports for internment. Only a handful of French fighting ships chose or tried to make this escape.

Yet the net result of what Britain's war cabinet called the most "grim and sombre" decision of his career—the order that turned British guns on resisting French naval units—is to make the capitals of the tragic battles are incomplete.

There remains no French fleet.

It is no longer a potential factor that under German and Italian control could be used to deal Britain a mortal blow. Whatever the fighting value of the French naval units that are under British control they now must be rated as an asset for Britain.

They supplement the power of the Royal Navy upon which rest Britain's hopes of beating off German-Italian attack.

That was the immediate purpose of the British war leadership. But there was clearly another reason for the drastic action. It was designed to sound the knell of vagrant peace rumors that have tantalized the world.

DEFINITE PURPOSE

Nor can there be much question that there was a definite purpose in timing of the stroke to synchronize with United States celebration of the Fourth of July. Mr. Churchill's words specifically made it clear that it was to American public opinion he was appealing to judge British action in the light of broken French commitments and the added danger in which Britain was placed by the dubious status of the French fleet.

He coupled with that the repeated assurance that Britain intends to fight on, and there is no disagreement within the British war cabinet on its course.

There is also implicit in British action against the French fleet and in Mr. Churchill's repudiation of back-stage peace whispering, another matter of significance. Britain's war leader has virtually pledged his government to fight on against Germany even if England itself falls. It obviously means a removal of the British government and fleet across the Atlantic to Canada if Britain can not be held against a German-Italian siege or invasion.

That would bring the war into this hemisphere. It would make imperative a United States decision as to whether American resources and facilities are to be placed at the disposal of the Royal Navy to insure its continued domination of the North Atlantic while the United States arms against any eventuality.

War In American Waters Possibility

BUENOS AIRES, July 5.—Britain's use of force to seize French warships raises afresh the possibility the war may be carried again into American waters, observers claimed here last night.

The French navy, which throughout most of the war handled a section of the south Atlantic patrol from the "bulge" of Brazil northward, has a West Indies base at Martinique.

The number of French vessels there now is unknown, but well informed sources say the cruisers which had maintained patrol and convoy duties off Brazil likely have sailed for Africa, perhaps leaving small escort vessels as the only ships now based in the West Indies.

If French cruisers, submarines and other important units are still in Martinique, however, it is reasonable to suppose the Royal Navy may attempt to take them over despite the neutrality zone, observers said.

It has been learned that with the collapse of the French, Netherlands units, eight strong submarine flotilla with headquarters in the West Indies base of Aruba, have effectively assumed patrol duties in co-operation with the British fleet.

A neutral expert said it was the heightened operations of Netherlands submarines in Caribbean waters which were responsible for many reported sightings of "foreign" submarines off the Panama canal.

Crees Asking For Indian Battalion In Canadian Army

NORTH BATTLEFORD, July 5—Cree Indians, gathered for a meeting of the Indians League assembly on the reservation near Onion lake, today will consider petitioning the Dominion government to form an all-Indian battalion in the Canadian Active Service Force, to be used mainly for home defence.

Chief J. Dreaver of Mestawis who will sponsor the suggestion is a veteran of the first Great War and a winner of the military medal.

CANUCKS MAY MAN UNITS OF FRENCH FLEET

Members Of R.C.N.V.R. Are Undergoing Special Training in Britain

By SAM ROBERTSON
Canadian Press Staff Writer

LONDON, July 4.—Canada's fighting sons of the sea probably will be used to man some units of the French fleet taken over by the Royal Navy, it was learned today in authoritative circles.

Many members of the Royal Canadian Naval Volunteer Reserve have been undergoing training in the United Kingdom for some time and the Canadian government has assured London that others will follow. These men who are known to have impressed admiralty officials with their keenness could be used as officers on French men-o'-war.

CREW OF FRASER

Without a ship at present are 90 officers and men who survived the collision last week off Bordeaux in which the Canadian destroyer Fraser was sunk. They are known to want to continue serving as a unit under the same skipper.

It is possible the Fraser's personnel might be brought to full complement and form one of the destroyers added to Britain's naval strength when she moved dramatically to keep French warships from being used by the enemy against Britain.

Paper Praises British Navy

LONDON, July 5.—The Evening Standard lauded the action of the Royal Navy in seizing French warships and declared "the whole nation rejoices that no academic formulas were permitted to stand in the way of the discharge of our clear duty to our cause."

The alternative to this action was certainly to allow the whole might of the French navy to pass into German service," it said.

RESPONSIBILITY OF PRESS TOLD BY SOUTH MAYOR

CALGARY, July 5.—Responsibility of the press in maintaining the morale of the people during times of stress was emphasized by Mayor Andrew Davison in an address yesterday to the 200 delegates and their wives gathered for the 21st annual convention of the Canadian Weekly Newspaper Association.

The editors and their ladies were guests of the city of Calgary at luncheon. Other speakers were Herman E. Rice, Huntsville, Ont.; S. R. Hodson, Okotoks; E. L. Richardson, manager of the Calgary Exhibition and Stampede; F. P. Galbraith, Red Deer, and the president of the association, H. T. Halliwell, Coleman.

Thursday afternoon convention delegates motored to Turner Valley where they inspected the oil fields and were guests of the gas and oil section of the Calgary Board of Trade at dinner.

Election of officers will be held Friday afternoon, and the association trophy dinner in the evening.

Payment Made By Wheat Pool On Province Loan

CALGARY, July 5—Provincial government coffers were swelled Thursday by receipt of $453,425 cash, forwarded by the Alberta wheat pool and representing the ninth annual instalment on the debt assumption, result of the 1929-30 crop overpayment.

Though not due until September 1, R. D. Purdy, general manager of the pool, in making the announcement said:

"It is our aim to clean up this indebtedness as rapidly as possible in order that the full equity in the pool elevator system may be restored intact to the membership."

Calgarian Robbed In Broad Daylight By Armed Gunman

CALGARY, July 5.—An armed gunman robbed the home of A. D. Young, 406 Sixteenth Ave., in broad daylight Thursday, and threatened Ralph Young, 17, with a black revolver when disturbed.

An intensive search of Calgary and district is under way for the gunman, who may be responsible for other recent burglaries which have kept police busy.

The man fled with an unknown amount of loot. He apparently cut the telephone lines from the outside before breaking into the residence.

Orillia Gets Win

ORILLIA, Ont., July 5.—Orillia Terriers defeated Mimico Mountaineers 17-11 in an Ontario Lacrosse Association senior game last night. The victory, first in three starts with the Mountaineers, put Terriers firmly in second place, behind St. Catharines Athletics.

BRUCE URGES BORROWING TO FINANCE WAR

Ontario Tory Declares "Pay-As-You-Go" Policy Not Possible

OTTAWA, July 5—Declaring it would be worth $20,000,000,000 to the United States if the British forces could safeguard American shores until this continent completes arming Dr. H. A. Bruce (Con., Toronto, Parkdale) yesterday urged the government to borrow more and tax less to pay for the war effort.

Speaking on the budget in the House of Commons Dr. Bruce urged Finance Minister J. L. Ralston to explore the possibility of borrowing in United States. He claimed it was impossible to achieve a "pay-as-you-go" policy.

"A patient might as well try to finance the removal of his appendix while the operation was proceeding as for us to try to pay for this war as we go out of current earnings," Dr. Bruce said.

CREATES INTEREST BURDEN

Norman Jacques (N.D., Wetaskiwin) scored those who ridicule the monetary theories of his group and said those who support the fiscal policies of the government worshipped money and made it their religion.

Bulk of the money used to finance the war would not be borrowed from the savings of the people but would be created by bookkeeping entries in banking institutions and would create a tremendous interest burden, to be borne by generations to come, Mr. Jacques declared.

Substitution of a straight dividend tax of 20 per cent in place of the excess profits tax on gold mines was moved by W. A. Adamson (Con. York West) when debate resumed last night.

Based upon operations of Ontario mines in 1939 this would bring in as much as the excess profits tax as proposed but would not bear heavily on new developments which have not yet reached profitable proportions, he said.

M. J. Coldwell (C.C.F. Rosetown-Biggar) returned to his discussion of the excess profits tax which, last Friday, he declared would fail to prevent great profits accruing to manufacturers of war essentials. He gave figures of several large industries to show they would have high rates of profit even under the proposed excess profits tax increase.

AMENDMENT PROPOSED

Mr. Coldwell has an amendment before the house increasing the excess profits tax from 75 per cent as in the budget to 100 per cent. He said the wealthy should also be compelled to buy large blocks of war loans without interest for a period of at least three years.

The C.C.F. spokesman pledged support of his group to the New Democracy sub-amendment that no new taxes be imposed until all unemployed are absorbed and production brought to a maximum by issue of money and credit by the Bank of Canada in terms of actual public need.

Opposing the national defence tax on incomes starting at $600, C. E. Johnston (N.D.-Bow River), observed that ministers and others in authority were telling the people to tighten their belts. One of those giving that advice was Graham Towers, governor of the Bank of Canada, Mr. Johnston said.

"He receives a salary of $30,000 a year," Mr. Johnston said, "and he talks of tightening his belt!"

"Tightening our belts," a member suggested.

"Oh! Yes, excuse me, I mean tightening our belts," Mr. Johnston said.

RAPS COMMISSION COST

Mr. Johnston read a return showing cost of some royal commissions. Finance Minister Ralston was shown as receiving $200 a day as counsel to the Turgeon grain commission, (before he returned to parliament) plus $20 a day living allowances.

Other figures showed Justice W. F. A. Turgeon, chairman of the commission receiving approximately $25,000 living allowances while head of the commission.

These payments when compared with the amounts the great majority of people lived on, were described by Mr. Johnston as "criminal," and "rank injustice." He said the large payments for royal commissions were a "racket."

At the start of the war there were declarations that France was ready and that Great Britain was ready for any eventuality. The same was said of Canada, Mr. Johnston said. But it was proven that no country was ready except Germany.

France had been unable to complete the Maginot line along the Belgian border to the sea, because of the demands of financiers for "their pound of flesh."

Canada could never be really prepared for war until financing is arranged by issue of currency and credit in terms of public need without creating debt.

Demands for a 100 per cent tax on all profits in excess of average for the four years prior to the war, and lightening of the national defence tax, were made by Angus MacInnis (C.C.F., Vancouver East). It would be unfair to place the national defence tax on salaries less than $700 a year for single persons and $1,500 for married persons, he said.

Roosevelt Son's Home Is Guarded By Secret Police

NAHANT, Mass, July 5.—Nahant police confirmed a report last night that secret service agents have been guarding the home of John Roosevelt and his wife for the last three weeks. The Roosevelts recently became parents of a son. The president's youngest son said he had "no comment."

New York Papers Express Hearty Approval Of Move Taken By British Navy

NEW YORK, July 5.—The New York Herald Tribune said today there can be "no doubt" as to history's verdict on the action of Prime Minister Churchill in ordering action by the Royal Navy against the French fleet and added that there can be "even less" as to that of the United States.

Approving the British action, the newspaper said editorially:

"It has shown the British democracy at last capable of acting in its own defence with the peremptory decision, the bold disregard of small fears and traditional forms, the aggressive power to grasp the fundamental of the situation and the effective will to victory which the Nazis themselves have displayed.

FIGHTING FOR LIFE

"And the British action has at the same time thrown the total moral bankruptcy of the Vichy government into a memorable and inescapable relief. The government which could betray its ally as this government did and then convert itself into the tool, which this episode shows it to be, of Nazi conquest, is no longer France.

"Great Britain is fighting now for her life. Those who are with her are with her; those who act against may take their chances with whatever future Hitler may allot them, but they will not matter, for Great Britain now has the moral strength to which all free men—Frenchmen or free Germans or Americans—can respond.

"Great Britain has found at last the one thing which the democratic powers have lacked through all these fantastic years—the will to fight regardless of the consequences, the will to victory whatever the costs, the will to take over whatever risks are necessary.

"That spirit entitles them to every aid which this country can give them, and it means that the struggle, entered upon this heroic plane, can yet be won."

The New York Times declared editorially: "Whatever bitterness will be caused in France by this tragedy piled upon a vast tragedy, fair-minded opinion will agree that the British were right in what they did."

The Boston Globe, in addition to approving the British action, expressed commendation for Mr. Churchill personally in saying: "This latest decision shows he still possesses the courage and audacity for needed decisions."

Said the Kansas City Star: "In the circumstances, the British were forced to move swiftly. The terms they offered were extremely fair. Most responsible Americans will cheer the Churchill government for resorting to the desperate measures that it took to meet the emergency."

Baltimore Evening Sun: "The tragedy of the British naval action to prevent the French fleet from getting into German hands is that it must appear to many as a bitter fight among hitherto faithful allies. Actually, of course, the French fleet acts under Hitler's orders spoken through the mouths of French, who have no choice but to utter them."

Washington Evening Star: "It is tragic, of course, that events should have precipitated the shocking spectacle of French and British warships, so recently allied in a common cause, engaging in mortal combat. But for England to have stood by supinely while French warships were being delivered into the hands of an unscrupulous enemy, whose record of treachery is notorious, would have been beyond comprehension."

2 DETECTIVES ARE KILLED BY BOMB AT FAIR

New York Policemen Die While Rushing Bomb From Pavilion

NEW YORK, July 5.—All known radicals in the Metropolitan area were rounded up today as police made an unprecedented effort to track down those responsible for a bomb explosion which killed two police detectives and injured five other persons at the World's Fair.

Police Commissioner Lewis J. Valentine ordered his entire department to concentrate on the case.

Protesting agitators were hauled down from soap boxes in Columbus Circle, the "red rendezvous," and rushed to police headquarters.

THOROUGH PROBE

Mayor Fiorello Laguardia declared, "There will be a most thorough investigation, and there won't be any letup."

Two of those injured were in critical condition today.

The bomb, a flame-thrower and disguised as a portable radio, was apparently intended to destroy the British pavilion. Put on display by a mysterious telephone call Tuesday that "the place is going to be blown up," a policeman employee noticed the small bag in the fan room yesterday afternoon, took it to a deserted spot about 150 yards from the Polish pavilion and notified authorities.

An hour and a half later, the bomb exploded as members of the bomb squad pried cautiously into the bag.

The explosion occurred just two weeks after bombs went off in a German consulate service office only a floor below the German consul-general's office and outside the building that houses the Daily Worker, Communist newspaper.

Those killed yesterday were detectives Joseph J. Lynch, 33, and Ferdinand A. Socha, 35, close friends.

CRITICALLY INJURED

Critically injured were Detectives William J. Federer, 36, compound fractures of both legs, multiple abrasions and burns of face and hands; and Joseph Gallagher, 39, compound fractures of both legs, possible skull fracture, multiple abrasions and contusions, and Capt. John J. McLaughlin of the World's Fair police, severe cuts.

CALGARY PILOT INCREASES BAG NAZI BOMBERS

LONDON, July 5—Pilot Officer William Lidstone McKnight of Calgary, awarded the Distinguished Flying Cross last month after shooting down four enemy planes, was reported by the Daily Express today to have since increased his bag by eight or 10 bombers and fighters. McKnight, a native of Edmonton, is 22.

One official said it was understood that McKnight was credited with "at least 12" enemy planes and "possibly a considerable number are unconfirmed."

King Spends Six Hours With Troops From Australia

LONDON, July 5—The King Thursday spent six hours with the Australian troops included in Britain's defence forces, and learned that many of them disguised their age in order to join the colors. When His Majesty commented on the number of Aussies wearing service ribbons of the last war, he was told that many claimed they were under 35 at enlistment and did not put up their ribbons until they were aboard troop transports on their way to the United Kingdom.

ITALIANS BOMB SHIPS IN PORT IN ALEXANDRIA

British and French Warships Attacked In Harbor

ALEXANDRIA, July 5—Italian planes showered bombs over Alexandria yesterday in two attacks on British and French warships at anchor here and killed 15 persons and wounded seven.

The bomber squadron swept over the western harbor from the Dodecanese islands and dropped nearly 40 bombs, most of which fell harmlessly into the sea.

Several, however, struck a customs building and the Mahmoudieh canal in Alexandria. One bomb fell 10 miles west of Alexandria. Anti-aircraft fire shook the entire port area.

The raids came about the time it was disclosed in London that Britain had refused permission to French warships to leave Alexandria and return to home ports in compliance with the French-German armistice.

Twelve natives were killed by several bombs which fell in the gardens of Egyptian King Farouk's Montaza palace here. Farouk was absent from Alexandria at the time. The other raid victims also were natives.

Abukir, site of a military base, whose population normally is 9,000, was cleared of all but 500 natives. Carts, taxis, private cars and trucks loaded with evacuees proceeded toward the interior.

Raiding airplanes dropped a large number of bombs in an effort to hit warships in Alexandria harbor today, but were driven to sea by terrific bursts of anti-aircraft fire from both warship and coastal defence batteries.

A STATEMENT ON FORD WAR WORK IN CANADA

This Company is in the war to the full limit of its resources. Until the British Empire is victorious, until the battle for freedom of nations and liberty of peoples is won, we have pledged all the vast manufacturing facilities of our Canadian and overseas affiliated companies to the service of the Empire.

We regard this to be our simple duty as a Canadian institution, one of the industrial resources of the Dominion. The 8,400 employees in our plants as well as our widespread dealer and service organization from coast to coast are Canadian. The Company's shareholders include a large proportion of Canadian investors. No one individual, family or company has a majority control of our shares.

For these reasons, aside from our deep feeling of loyalty to the Empire and its high purposes, it is fitting that Ford Motor Company of Canada, Limited should give wholehearted support to the national war effort.

From the very beginning this has been our course. Even before war was declared, in co-operation with officers of the Department of National Defence, we laid in our plant the groundwork of military production. Since conflict became a reality we have given war orders precedence over everything else. More than fifty per cent of our production is in vehicles for military use and this percentage is increasing rapidly.

We are now engaged in supplying approximately 35,000 motorized vehicles of many types, of which 10,000 are for the Canadian government and 25,000 for other Empire governments.

We are constructing at our own expense a $700,000 plant addition to provide facilities for the building of Universal machine gun carriers of which we have undertaken to deliver fifty a week to the Canadian government as soon as production can be started. This addition will also enable us to increase production of other types of military vehicles. Our affiliated companies with plants in South Africa, Australia, New Zealand, India and Malaya are similarly engaged in Empire service.

Beyond our manufacturing facilities we have been fortunately able to contribute skilled man-power. From our Canadian and overseas organization, engineers and men with special training in transport and other lines are rendering valuable service.

Major adjustments in our business have been necessary through loss of export trade and because of domestic taxation. We have made these adjustments cheerfully. Our one concern now is the successful prosecution of this war so that people of all nations may again be able to work in freedom and peace.

W. R. Campbell
PRESIDENT

FORD MOTOR COMPANY OF CANADA, LIMITED

Statement in Parliament by the Hon. C. D. Howe, Minister of Munitions and Supply

"The president of the Canadian Company has shown perhaps as keen a desire to assist in Canada's war effort as any citizen of this Dominion has done. His corporation since the outbreak of the war has done and is doing very important work for Canada's war effort, in the way of building motor transports and Universal carriers. The company has placed itself entirely in the hands of the government as to the terms of the contract which it has had.

"A contract, providing for a fixed price as low as we could find any basis for asking, was worked out; an overriding provision was inserted that the books of the company would be audited and if the stipulated price produced a profit more than a very low percentage indeed, that price would be scaled down accordingly. In other words, the work of the Ford Motor Company of Canada, its attitude toward the war, and its ability to assist in Canada's war effort, have been so far as I have been able to observe, beyond criticism."

Statement in Senate by Senator Raoul Dandurand, Government Leader in the Senate

"Ford Motor Company of Canada is doing its utmost to serve the interests of the country, the War Supply Board and the Government."

Statement in the Senate by Rt. Hon. Arthur Meighen, Conservative Leader in the Senate

"They (Ford dealers in Canada) are numbered in the hundreds. And the number of employees of these dealers is very large. The ramifications are tremendous. For all the purposes concerning us, the Company is a Canadian concern, and I can add to the assurance given by the honourable leader of the House my own feeling that there are no better Canadians than those at the head of the Ford Motor Company of Canada and throughout that Company's organization. They will assist us to the utmost in our war work."

Women's Auxiliary Motor Service

Early in the war the Ford Motor Company of Canada, Limited, organized free training courses for women in the care and operation of motor vehicles for possible war service. 284 such classes have been conducted, with an enrollment of 7,345. The number who have completed the eight week course is 3,473, with 2,656 now under instruction and 1,214 enrolled in new classes about to start. All instruction and equipment has been furnished by Ford dealers and the Company without charge.

Types of Motorized Vehicles for Military Use Being Made by Ford Motor Company of Canada

The Company is engaged in manufacturing 35,000 motorized vehicles for Canadian and overseas governments. They include light two-wheel drive trucks, knows as 8-cwt., which are used for carrying light stores, personnel or wireless sets; 15-cwt. units, used to transport heavier loads, personnel, as anti-tank gun tractors, water tank carriers, etc.; 30-cwt. four-wheel drive, used as load carriers; three-ton, four and six wheels, for heavy loads, for workshops, for wrecking equipment, etc.; four-wheel drive gun tractors used to haul artillery, as well as ambulances and regular passenger cars and station wagons specially fitted and painted for army purposes. Present schedule of deliveries of these military vehicles constitutes more than 50 per cent of the Company's production. The plant is working day and night.

The Plot That Failed

The whereabouts of the long missing French fleet has been disclosed. Several battleships and a great number of smaller craft are in British ports. Others were reported some days ago gathered at Casablanca, to continue the war. Some were destroyed at Oran. Still others are fugitives and will be hunted down and destroyed if possible before they are manned by German and Italian crews and sent to prey on Allied shipping or fight Allied warships.

The fleet, that is to say, has been dispersed. The Allied sea forces are weakened by the ships sunk and those in enemy control. But the aim of the dictators to get possession of the fleet intact has been frustrated. At best they have only an indeterminate number of the ships, insufficient to give them the naval parity with Britain they hoped to gain.

How sorely disappointed Herr Hitler is at the outcome of his plot he has already told the world. Mr. Churchill, he says, is the scoundrel of all the ages—for having prevented the scheme coming to success. The measure of his fury is the measure of service Churchill did the Allies and the cause of human freedom when he thwarted the design.

If anyone doubted what Hitler and his Italian stooge intended to do with the fleet he may discern the purpose in the infuriated raving of the Fuehrer. He wanted those ships and wanted them badly.

The Tragedy Of Oran

History will have to record the strange fact, unthinkable a few short weeks ago, that perhaps the major naval engagement of the war up to this time was the battle between British and French squadrons of battleships at Oran, in Algiers. Shocking as is the news, the occurrence itself was not unexpectable in the chaos precipitated by the terms of surrender to which the Petain cabinet was induced or compelled to agree.

One of those terms was that the French fleet should be turned over to Germany and Italy; with the condition attached that it should not be used against the remaining Allies. Whatever faith Marshal Petain and his associates placed in this promise, neither the Allied Governments nor peoples were under any delusion as to its worth. What this clause meant was simply that Messrs. Hitler and Mussolini could use the French warships in any way they chose; and the inference demanded by their record is that they would use them to destroy or cripple the British fleet.

It was and is the duty of Britain and its remaining Allies—to themselves—and to France as well—to prevent these powerful weapons falling into the hands of the gangsters, even if that should involve sinking the ships in battle at the peril of the lives of their crews. At Oran this was found to be the only way to keep a number of French battleships from being delivered to the enemy. What followed was inevitable.

Terrible as it must have been for the British seamen to have to fire upon their late Allies, they were fighting for their own lives, and for the cause they value more than their lives. The French sailors who died there, in obedience to treacherous orders, died that France may live, as really as though they had perished in battle with Nazi or Fascist ships. For should Britain's sea power be destroyed, France will be no more.

A U-Boat Makes A Record

Berlin got on the air first with the announcement that one of its submarines had sunk the Arandora Star, the language indicating that the achievement gave high satisfaction among the perjured directors of assassination on the high seas. But British authorities supplemented the statement with information that the liner was "jammed" with German and Italian prisoners and potential fifth-columnists, en route to Canada for internment. About a thousand of these appear to have been drowned.

This is the greatest single success scored by any under-water murder craft in the present war.

The opinions expressed by the survivors concerning the U-boat, and the unwarned sinking of merchant ships in general, were naturally less flattering than those of the Berlin broadcaster. The relatives of the internees, and people generally in Germany and Italy, will no doubt share these views as to the essential villainy of torpedoing merchant ships without giving those aboard a chance to save themselves.

Not so the Fuehrer and his associates. They will not call off the campaign of frightfulness because of this mishap. German lives mean little to them, Italian lives still less, and the lives of Germans or Italians who have fallen into captivity and can therefore no longer serve their purposes, nothing at all.

Eventually those in the two countries who abhor this cowardly species of warfare, for personal reasons and on moral grounds, will make their resentment felt. For the time they can do nothing but nurse their grief and shame, in hope that the day may soon come when they avenge the one and expunge the other.

On balance about as many Nazi raiders have been killed in attacks on England as the number of persons—most of them civilians—who have been killed by them. Berlin cannot be finding that a very profitable kind of warfare. For war purposes one flier is worth many civilians, and the loss of a bomber is only less important than the loss of a trained crew.

A correspondent of a London paper says Paul Baudouin is a "mysterious millionaire banker" who has worked to take France out of the war ever since he entered the Petain cabinet. It is to be hoped the charge can be investigated and the truth disclosed. If it is false, justice demands that it be disproved. If true, M. Baudouin will deserve to be put down in history as the man who sold France.

Experts at Ottawa say if any resident of Alberta has an income of $500,000 he will, when he gets through paying federal and provincial income taxes, have none of the $500,000 left and will still owe $2,935. A resident of Saskatchewan afflicted with a similar income would have to hand it all over and $38,332.18 more. Fortunately for themselves, it is unlikely that any of the residents of either province have incomes of this impoverishing magnitude.

The Passing Show

By J. S. COWPER

There are some statesmen like Churchill, Eden and Duff-Cooper who need not reproach themselves. They were not hoodwinked by Hitler at any stage of the European war from its commencement in the Spanish rebellion. There's a French military leader—General de Gaulle, now head of the French Committee of Liberation in London — who does not need to reproach himself. He foresaw the use to which tanks would be put by the Nazi forces when it came time to attack France. He wished to see France in a position to conduct an offensive war. When Under-Secretary for War after Munich, he urged the establishment of eleven motorized divisions. Alas, like some others, he found himself crying in the wilderness.

VOICES IN THE WILDERNESS

Italy has a first class dub in its military broadcaster. A couple of weeks before Mussolini felt it was safe for Italy to enter the war, this loquacious mouthpiece of the army announced that the first thing Italy would do on entering the war when the time came, would be to "simply sink a ship in the Suez Canal" to prevent supplies reaching the Allied fleet in the eastern Mediterranean and "to keep them from escaping from the Italian naval and air fleets."

Sinking a ship in the Suez Canal isn't a "simple" matter, and the fleeing thus far has been on the Italian side.

Now the war has entered on its secondary stage, with sea-power and the blockade as its main weapons, it is interesting to note the position of Italy under a rigid blockade. Four-fifths of Italy's pre-war gasoline and much of her coal, iron, steel, food and other essential war materials came from beyond the Mediterranean. A total of 61 per cent of her trade passed through the narrow Allied gateways at the eastern and western ends of the Mediterranean.

ITALY BANKS ON QUICK WAR

Here are some of the normal imports that pass either Suez or Gibraltar in a normal year such as 1938: 75,000 tons of raw cotton; 675,000 tons of crude oil; 75,000 tons of copper; 4,000 tons of nickel; 4,000 tons of tin; 30,000 tons of rubber; 250,000 tons of castor and other oil seeds; 40,000 tons of timber; 500,000 tons of wheat; 100,000 tons of corn; 75,000 tons of potatoes (mostly from Germany); 30,000 tons of wheat; 100,000 tons of fish and 900,000 tons of phosphate for fertilizer.

In a normal year, Italy imports 12,000,000 tons of coal of which about 2,000,000 tons came from Britain. While German and Polish coal fields of northern France and will be able to send some coal by rail to Italy, it will not be possible to supply all of Italy's need for coal.

While the position of France in holding back the Nazi armies made it wise to offer concessions to Italy to keep her out of the war, now that France has capitulated, the power of the blockade will be vastly more effective with Italy as an opponent.

For reasons which are well understood the churches of a country at war are invariably found in support of the national arms. It doesn't occasion much surprise to find in the same newspaper an Italian archbishop issuing a pastoral letter urging all Italians to lift their "reverent thoughts to the ever-victorious King and Emperor and to the undefeated Duce, to whom we have entrusted the fate of our armies and of the whole nation—may God always bless and protect him" while a report of a solemn mass of St. Patrick's Cathedral in New York quotes the preacher in denunciation of Hitler and Mussolini as "greedy, crazed, blood-thirsty leaders."

"PAGANIZING" THE SABBATH

Less pliable and less understandable is a Vancouver preacher who denounced as "paganizing the Sabbath" an effort by the theatrical entertainers of that city to raise funds for defense measures, by holding a Sunday concert. Sunday was the only night they were free. They gave their services and the theatre musicians and theatre owners their services and hall free.

The hotelmen of the city contributed over $2,000 to the fund. Even the bookmakers of the city contributed $1,200. The only contribution of the preacher was to denounce the effort of the entertainers as an attempt to "paganize the Sabbath."

At present the only Sunday places of entertainment open to non-Church-goers in Vancouver are the blind pigs. If providing beautiful music for charity's sake is "paganizing the Sabbath," the odium is taken from paganism.

OFFICE AND SHOP TYRANTS

Picayune spirits, clothed with a little brief authority, probably cause more anguish to human hearts than the major oppressors of mankind. Millions know the tyranny of these poisonous specimens of the lower order of fauna, exercising terrorism as foremen, office managers and such like. They are the major cause of industrial unrest. Psychologists explain them as examples of the inferiority complex, seeking escape from the dominance of shrewish wives or superior officers.

Submission to such is a dreadful price to pay for a job. How would Jesus have acted toward them? We know the burning, blistering, contemptuous words He used toward the Pharisees. Perhaps we modern Christians are too greatly watered down, with overmuch sugar and not enough salt in our characters.

God give us grace to be angry with all who wrong and oppress their fellow men; and save us from ever ceasing to be the salt of the earth. Amen.

Read Ephesians 4:25-32.

Arnold Bennett once said of Beaverbrook that he was "one of the ten greatest men living." The judgment was probably wrong; yet Beaverbrook, clearly, is of the stuff of greatness—one of the most innovating, restless, original minds of his time. As Minister of Aircraft under Churchill he may not revolutionize the aircraft industry; he will bring to it fierce energy and passion for action invaluable at this time.——Ottawa Journal.

"This Little Bit of Canada"

Queen Elizabeth of Britain, who is also Queen Elizabeth of Canada, has the gracious faculty of doing the kindly and appropriate thing at exactly the right moment.

The Queen, when in Canada, gathered a clump of violets and has kept them growing in their own Canadian soil. They have been a reminder to her of an experience which, if she treasured it as Canadians do, was one of the happiest of her life. For she could not escape the knowledge that while she was welcomed to these shores as the Queen of Canada, she departed from them carrying with her the affection of Canadians not only for a queen, but for a queenly woman; an affection for herself as an individual; a personal regard and a personal loyalty. All that, and more, her Canadian violets typified.

Yet she has given them to Canadians who mounted guard at Buckingham Palace, in the hope, as expressed in a personal letter to the officer of the guard that "this little bit of Canada," this great bowl of violet plants in full bloom, would bring pleasure to the Toronto Scottish Regiment. It was a lovely gesture. It was the act of a great lady who recognizes the supreme place in life which is occupied by memories and emotions, and who realizes that the true value of a gift is not monetary but sentimental.—Toronto Star.

The War And Business

The effects of the impact of war on Canadian business conditions are now clearly discernible; marked acceleration in activity is reported in practically all branches of industry, the official index of the physical volume of business averaging 135.9 for the first four months of the present year as compared with 113.7 for the same period in 1939, a gain of 19½ per cent. Industrial production was 22 per cent greater, mining operations continued to expand, construction activity was at the highest level reported since 1931, employment was more general. This general expansion has of course been almost entirely due to the increase in the production of war materials and the speeding-up of operations in a more intensified effort to meet the extraordinary demands of the present emergency.

Manufacturers shared fully in this surge of activity, the heavy industries being particularly busy. Pig iron production for the four months was 368,000 long tons in 1940 as compared with 186,000 in 1939; the output of steel increased to 617,000 tons from 351,000 during the same period last year. Since October, steel production has averaged 150,000 tons monthly against 115,000 for the full year 1939 and 96,000 tons in 1938. The Canadian aircraft industry is making rapid progress and production on a large scale basis will shortly be achieved.

Products more in demand for ordinary or peace-time uses have benefited from the general upward movement. Automobile production is at the highest level since 1937. The output of newsprint to May 31, 1940, was 1,326,644 tons against 1,100,519 tons at the same date last year. Shipments have been well in excess of production. Other pulp products are being produced at capacity with demand and prices substantially above pre-war levels. The domestic demand for flour has been well sustained with export shipments during the current marketing year, from August 1, 1939, to May 31, 1940, at 5,958,200 barrels, a substantial rise over the corresponding total of 3,800,000 barrels for 1938-39. Other consumers' goods are moving in satisfactory volume.

Electric power production has been at a high level, with output up to April 30 at 9,718 million kilowatt hours in 1940 against 9,165 million in 1939. On the whole, manufacturing operations have shown a marked advance with many plants operating at capacity. Factories are being enlarged and continued acceleration in activity is anticipated, especially in the heavy and allied industries, to meet the demand for war materials.—Monthly Letter issued by the Royal Bank of Canada.

By FRED WILLIAMS

Just a century today the first service was held in the stone St. George's church, St. Catharines, part of which is retained in the present structure of which the congregation is so proud. The stone church had been five years in building due to a series of misfortunes, fire, lethargy, and then the rebellion, which paralysed everything in the Niagara district for the best part of two years, although the actual disturbances only covered a few months. The construction was begun in 1835 under a contract with Samuel Height to complete for £375, but eventually the cost reached £397 2s 6d.

Within 10 days after the inaugural service the congregation of St. George's suffered a severe loss by the accidental death of their beloved rector, Rev. James Clarke. He had been in the habit of driving to Port Dalhousie for an afternoon service. On July 12 he set out with Mr. Jedediah Merritt for the port. Their horse ran away. Both occupants were injured, Mr. Clarke so severely that he died two days later. His death was the cause of general mourning in the city and the old St. Catharines Journal not only paid editorial tribute, but also, as was the custom of the time, printed a eulogistic poem.

Mr. Clarke was succeeded by Rev. Abraham Fuller Atkinson, until then rector of Bath, near Kingston, who held the office for a quarter of a century. He, like Dr. Clarke, was an Irishman and a graduate of Trinity College, Dublin. Dr. Atkinson is described both by Bishop Strachan and by contemporary members of St. George's congregation as "one of the most eloquent and pious preachers," which meant something in days when sermons were long and had to be listened to, because the younger members of the congregation had to be examined by their parents in the afternoon as to what the sermon was about. Those people took their religion seriously.

This is the fourth of a series of five articles based on eliminations, squeezes and coups, as outlined in George Coffin's "Endplays."

South is justified in jumping to four spades over North's free raise to two spades. When the dummy goes down, it looks as if declarer may have to lose two hearts and two diamonds, but Coffin demonstrates an interesting endplay.

West of course wins the ace and king of diamonds, and declarer trumps the third diamond. South cashes two rounds of trumps and his three good club tricks, then leads a small heart and finesses the nine.

East wins with the ten-spot, but can take no more tricks. He must either lead a heart back into dummy's ace-queen, or play a club, in which case declarer can discard from one hand and ruff in the other.

The endplay is one of the declarer's most valuable assets.

The gangster was brought before the judge. He was accused of stealing a fur coat from a furrier's store.

"How do you plead?" asked the judge, eyeing the prisoner. "Guilty or not guilty?"

"Well," said the gangster, "it was like this. My girl friend needed a new coat, so I went out and got her one. After all, the poor kid hasn't had a new coat for five years."

The judge scowled.

"Hm," he growled. "And did your friend approve of your stealing the coat?"

"Yes," nodded the gangster. "She didn't care how I got it, just so long as she had a new coat."

"A fine state of affairs," observed the judge, sternly. "Perhaps your friend doesn't object to the manner in which this coat was obtained—but the law most certainly objects to your methods."

The gangster shrugged hopelessly.

"It just goes to show you," he murmured, "you can't please everybody."

"Don't you know that tobacco is a slow poison?"

"That does not matter—I'm not in a hurry."

"Mother," said little Tommy, "if a poor, hungry little boy came to the door and asked for something to eat, would you give him that piece of tart that was left from dinner?"

"Why, of course I would," answered his mother.

"Good! Just wait till I go round to the front door."

Cash prizes put up by the Board of Trade for best individual residential and business front decorations were awarded to W. Wilson, L. C. Hay's store and the New Edson Theatre.

At the school grounds a varied program of races and ball tournaments continued from morning till dark. In the baseball tournament Hinton defeated Evansburg, Edson won from Wildwood and from Manola, and the final battle for the Fowler cup between Edson and Hinton, called on account of darkness, was left undecided at the 10th inning tied 4-4, and a further game will be played next Sunday to settle the ownership of the coveted award.

In the softball tournament, Wildwood disposed of Hinton, Carrot Creek won from Edson, Entwistle defeated Evansburg, and Entwistle won from Wildwood, Carrot Creek winning first from Entwistle to take the first money of $15. Second prize to the Entwistle girls was $10.

The address on the occasion of Dominion Day was given by Rev. J. H. Low over the public address system.

GLENDON

On Tuesday a deputation consisting of Messrs. P. R. Bahry, R. F. Keitges and R. M. Sherk from the Board of Trade, and B. Krynowski from the Local School Board interviewed the Board of Bonnyville School Division with regard to the selection of a site for a high school. Arrangements were made to purchase four acres directly adjoining the townsite on the West from Steve Cochrane of Edmonton and it is intended to have the high school in operation during the coming term.

BASHAW

John Mattie, 19, was drowned last week while swimming in the Red Deer river south of Alix. He went in swimming with his companions after eating supper and he got a cramp and went under before his friends could get to him. He is survived by his parents, Mr. and Mrs. Adolph Mattie of Alix.

In Wartime Romance

MARY MARVIN BRECKENRIDGE, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. John Cabell Breckenridge, of York Village, Me., who was recently married in Berlin to Jefferson Patterson, of Dayton, Ohio, first secretary of the U.S. embassy at Berlin.

LEDUC

The Leduc annual Dominion Day celebration was a striking success. The attendance was well up to former years. Mayor Ennis led the parade.

The baseball tournament, in which six district teams competed, found Calmar winning first prize, Glen Park second and Leduc, third.

In the men's softball tournament, Leduc won first and Conjuring Creek second. In the ladies' softball, Glen Park was first and Conjuring Creek second.

BRUCE

The funds of the Bruce Red Cross Society have been replenished by an additional $100. A Dominion Day picnic, attended by some 300 residents of the district, followed by a benefit picture show in the evening, netted more than $65. With a fine gesture the Bruce Stampede Association decided to make this amount an even hundred dollars. At the picnic, Dr. G. E. Haworth was the guest of the committee and addressed the gathering on the work of the Red Cross.

CLIVE

Mr. Nolan and family have taken up residence in Clive. He is the new U.G.G. elevator agent taking over the position of Mr. R. Butterworth, who joined with the C.A.S.F.

More accidents occur in the kitchen than in any other room of a home.

RED DEER

CO-OP. COUNCIL ANNUAL MEETING HELD RED DEER

The fifth annual meeting of the Alberta Co-operative Council opened at the Buffalo hotel, Red Deer, on Thursday morning with about 80 official delegates, fraternal delegates and visitors present. C. Jensen, of Magrath, chairman of the council, presided in the morning, and Carl Anderson, of Scandia, was chairman for the afternoon meeting. E. W. Brandeen, Calgary, secretary of the Council, was in charge of arrangements. Mayor E. S. Hogg extended a civic welcome to the visitors.

Most of the morning session was taken up with organization business and presentation of proposed amendments of the constitution. Discussion took place on these during the afternoon and they will again be dealt with on Friday.

Thursday afternoon two fine addresses were heard. H. H. Hannam, of Toronto, president, Canadian Federation of Agriculture, spoke on "Our Farmers' Federation, Its Structure and Objectives," and G. G. Coote, Nanton, secretary of the Federation, spoke on "The Need for Co-operation."

About 80 sat down to a banquet at 6:30 p.m., following which H. H. Hannam gave an address on "The Work of Canadian Agriculture." Miss Jessie Cadman and Miss Bishop, both of Calgary, gave a musical program.

New Supplementary Estimate Presented For War Purposes

LONDON, July 5.—A supplementary estimate of £1,000,000,000 ($4,450,000,000) to meet expenses "arising out of the existence of a state of war" was presented to parliament yesterday in an 11-line white paper.

The estimate which is for a period ending March 31 next was used to meet army, navy, air ministry of supply and other expenditures of the war.

It increased the war expenditure estimate of £2,000,000,000 made by Sir John Simon, then chancellor of the exchequer, in his budget last April.

Canadian-Built Naval Ships Are Ready To Launch

OTTAWA, July 5—Three Canadian-built naval vessels will slide down the ways this week well ahead of scheduled launching dates, the munitions and supply department announced yesterday.

They are corvettes, formerly known as patrol vessels, and are to be launched at eastern Canadian ports. Built for the British admiralty, they are part of the 82-ship program now progressing ahead of schedule. The first ship in the building program was launched in Montreal last week.

Corvettes are modern craft especially designed as submarine chasers and for escort work.

Peace River Men Arrive In Calgary For Army Training

Double Ring Wedding Held At First Baptist Church

A PRETTY, double ring wedding ceremony was performed at First Baptist church on Thursday evening at half-past eight o'clock when Miss Gladys Frankland, second daughter of Mr. James Frankland and the late Mrs. Frankland, became the bride of Mr. Valerian "Val" Elniski, eldest son of Mr. and Mrs. Steve Elniski. The ceremony was performed by Rev. Daniel Young.

Entering the church, which was decorated with pink, white and ... peonies, the bride wore ... lovely gown of white net, inset with lace leg-of-mutton sleeves, and sweetheart neckline. Her only ornament was a necklace of seed pearls. She wore a chapel veil of white net, with a lace cap, and carried a bouquet of Briarcliff roses and blue corn-flowers. Mr. Frankland gave his daughter in marriage.

ATTENDANTS

Matron of honor, Mrs. Gordon Trueman, wore a gown of peach lace over net, with white picture hat and white accessories. Her bouquet was of white carnations.

Mrs. Gordon Cummings also attended her sister, and wore for the occasion a frock of blue georgette, with tucked bodice. Her picture hat was in blue and she carried pink carnations.

Mr. Fred Elniski, brother of the bride-groom, was best man.

Ushering the guests to the pews were Mr. Albert Welbpley and Mr William Dann, brother-in-law of the bridegroom. The wedding music was played by Mrs. F. Barber Smith, and during the signing of the register, Miss Henry Briggs sang "Oh, Promise Me".

RECEPTION

More than 100 guests attended the wedding reception, arranged later at the Alberta Avenue community hall. Receiving with the bridal couple, Mrs. S. Elniski, mother of the bridegroom, wore a crepe dress in deep mauve, with white accessories.

Nephew of the bride, Mr. Ronald Cummings, presented the bridal couple with a good-luck horse shoe, sent from England by the bride's aunt.

The bride's table was centred with a three-tiered wedding cake, surrounded by pink roses, and sprays of orange blossoms.

Mr. and Mrs. Elniski have left on a honeymoon trip to the Pacific coast, and on their return to the city, the latter part of July, will make their home in the city. For travelling, Mrs. Elniski wore an ensemble of navy rough wool with white accessories and a teal blue top coat.

Home Science Group Holds Dinner

Dinner meeting of the Home Economics association was an attractive affair on Thursday evening when members gathered in the King Edward hotel to hear an address by Miss Audrey Michaels on "Today's Significance of Fashion". Miss Michaels has just recently returned from the Tobe-Coburn Fashion School in New York.

Mrs. R. G. Brewer, president of the association presided at dinner.

Guests present included Mrs Ida B. Smith, Mrs. E. Sackville, Miss Helen Sackville, Miss C. Eager, Mrs. F. Nye, Mrs. W. E. Robinson, Miss Dorothy Elliott.

Miss Eileen Stuart, Miss Grace Sutherland, Miss Frances Averback, Miss Anne Bruce, Miss Peggy Neil, Miss M. Attaberg, Mrs. J. W. Francis, Miss Jean Dickson.

Miss Hazel McIntyre, Mrs. Beulah M. Barnes, Mrs. E. Hitchin, Miss Grace Dunning, Miss Lee Anderson, Miss Dorothy Boucher, Miss Beth Decker, Miss Dorothy Graham, Miss Margaret MacLaggan, Miss Alberta Hastie and others.

Louise Bradley Weds Leonard Blower At Recent Ceremony

Decorated with bouquets of peonies and lupins, St. Luke's Anglican church was the scene of a pretty wedding at 7 o'clock recently, when Miss Louisa Edith Bradley, eldest daughter of Mrs. A. H. Bradley and the late Mr. A. H. Bradley became the bride of Mr. Leonard Aubrey Blower, eldest son of Mr. and Mrs. L. Blower. The ceremony was performed by Rev. W. H. Hatfield.

For her wedding the bride wore a floor-length gown of white chiffon over taffeta, fashioned with a short jacket and full skirt. Her veil of white net was held in place with a coronet of orange blossoms and she carried a shower bouquet of pink and white carnations.

She was given in marriage by her brother, Mr. Joseph Bradley.

Sister of the bride, Miss Margaret Bradley was bridesmaid, and wore a tea-length gown of pale pink chiffon over taffeta, with a shirred jacket. Her hat was a wide-brimmed leghorn. Her bouquet was of pink and white carnations.

Mr. Arthur Bradley, brother of the bride, supported the bridegroom.

Mr. Kenneth Barker and Mr. Walter Bradley were ushers. The wedding music was played by Miss Elaine Wills.

Following the marriage ceremony a reception was arranged at the home of the bride's parents. Presiding at the tea table were Mrs. A. Wills and Mrs. W. Barker. Miss Violet Goodwin and Miss Vera Bradley assisted as serviteurs.

Mr. and Mrs. Blower left later on a honeymoon trip, to be away for a fortnight. For travelling, Mrs. Blower wore a becoming grey tailleur, with white sheer blouse and accessories.

GARDEN PARTY

Highlands home of Mr. Joseph A. Clarke, K.C., and Mrs. Clarke at 7852 Jasper avenue, will be the scene of an attractive garden party on Thursday afternoon of next week, arranged in aid of the Twentieth Century Ambulance Fund. Assisting Mrs. Clarke will be Miss Hazelle Bennett and members of her committee.

City Couple Pledge Vows Recently

Christ Church was the scene of a pretty wedding on Saturday, June 22 when Miss Ella Mae Holland, youngest daughter of Mrs. David Holland and the late Mr. Holland, became the bride of Mr. Lloyd George Emery, R.C.A.F., eldest son of Mr. and Mrs. George W. Emery of Edmonton. The ceremony was performed by Rev. Canon G. P. Gower.

Given in marriage by her uncle, Mr. J. Long, the bride wore a powder blue gown, fashioned with full skirt, and a matching hat of blue, trimmed with red and white. She carried a Colonial bouquet of red and white roses and blue sweetpeas.

Miss Marjory Murphy, bridesmaid, wore a blue afternoon frock, with matching accessories.

Mr. Stanley Emery, brother of the bridegroom, was best man.

Following the marriage ceremony a reception to fifty guests was held at the home of the bridegroom's parents. Receiving with the bridal couple, Mrs. Holland, mother of the bride, wore a black and mauve printed afternoon dress with mauve hat and accessories to match.

Mother of the bridegroom, Mrs. Emery wore a black taffeta with matching accessories.

Mr. and Mrs. Emery left the following day for Toronto where they are making their home.

*Family vote endorses experts

"What ready-to-eat cereal is the favourite in your family?" This question was put to 2000 housewives right across Canada. Five times as many said Kellogg's as said any other brand of corn flakes! Why? It's their flavour! Mr. F. G. Baillie, Superintendent of Vernor's Ginger Ale, and developer of Cleco Flavours, says: "I was happy to join the distinguished group of flavour-experts who had already taste-tested corn flakes in an impartial blindfold test. You can certainly quote me as saying Kellogg's Corn Flakes are first for flavour!"

Dorothy Dix Says:

A worried father whose pretty and talented young daughter is infatuated with a highly undesirable youth, who drinks and consorts with wild women and has no means of livelihood, wants to know how he can break off the affair and save the girl from wrecking her life by making a marriage that would be bound to end in disaster. Well, reasoning with a girl in love is one of the most hopeless tasks on earth, because, for the time being, she has taken leave of her senses. It is a delicate situation that needs to be handled with the utmost diplomacy, yet parents in their wrath and despair generally go at it roughshod and heavy-handed, with the result that they precipitate the marriage that they are trying to prevent.

The first suggestion, then, that I would make to the father who is trying to keep his daughter from making a fool match is to put honey on his lips and guile in his actions. Quit opposing her.

Stop pointing out the boy's faults and shortcomings to her. The only result of that is to make her his champion.

Don't forbid her to marry the lad unless you want her to elope with him the next night.

Don't shut the door in Romeo's face and refuse to let him come to the house. That will only make her meet him in hole-and-corner places and give the affair a romantic-cruel-parent-persecution complex that will make it doubly alluring.

And a good strategic move is to have the undesirable lad brought in contrast with people who are better bred, better educated, who have better manners, who are more sophisticated than he is. Many a girl's passion has simply curled up and died a natural death when she first heard her heart's idol gargle his soup, or saw him sprawl on a sofa while ladies stood.

Instead of using arbitrary methods with a daughter who is bent upon self-desatruction, try compromise and fair play.

Ridicule is another potent weapon in slaying love's young dream, and it is especially effective when used by the members of the girl's set. Sally may be adamant to her mother's and father's tears and entreaties. But let Mamie and Maud and Carrie and Susie turn up their noses at him, and Sally can't take it. She begins to see him through their eyes and he is not Prince Charming, but a figure of fun. And all bets are off.

Oh, there are plenty of ways of breaking up love affairs, but, as the English say, it takes a pit of doing.

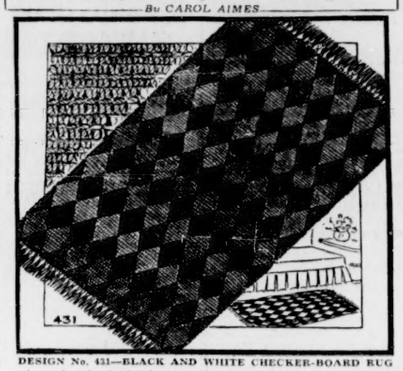

DOROTHY DIX.

Your Figure, Madame!

By IDA JEAN KAIN

You've probably read somewhere that one should be extremely careful about taking vigorous exercise in hot weather. That's all right with you! Just to be on the safe side, you may decide to pass it up entirely!

But you'll feel worse for going without any exercise—and how sorry you'll be when fall comes to town. Not that you are at all concerned now, but the advance style tips say they're going to be narrow in the middle—just where you're going to be wide, come September!

In this weather, of course, it would be silly to do a lot of exercises that leave you in a welter of perspiration. But Madame Helena Rubenstein has worked out a set of what she calls "No Exercise Exercises" which seem to fill the bill for summer slimming—they're as easy as yawning!

In spite of the fact that they require practically no exertion on the part of Milady, they accomplish magical results.

"Good morning"! But don't get out of bed yet, because you take these no exertion exercises lazily in bed. Push the pillows down to the foot of the bed. Then, lying on your back, take a good, luxurious stretch and relax. Now, stretch up with the right arm as you stretch the right leg down and across the left. P-u-l-l! Relax, and repeat on the other side. Alternate sides until you have stretched half a dozen times—lazily, of course! Even a little side-stretching will make you slim in the middle.

DIRECTIONS

Put your feet on the pillows, which are stacked one on top of the other, and from this nice, comfortable position, raise one leg in the air, bringing it up to right angles with the trunk, then let it drop back to the pillow. Repeat with other leg, alternating for eight counts. This doesn't seem like much of an exercise, but if you will remember to keep the small of the back pressed against the bed and to pull up and in with the lower abdominal muscles, you can acquire a nice slim midriff. Propping the feet up on the pillows relieves any strain in the lower back as alternate legs are raised.

Now for what Madame Rubenstein calls the "balancing act"—lying on your back, legs straight and raised to right angles, shuffle the feet back and forth, moving them from the hips, as if you were rotating a big beach ball with the feet.

All ready for the shower! Put a cap on your head and as you stand under the shower, bend like a willow, from one side to the other. That's as neat a waistline trick as you'll come across!

Now, dont say you haven't time for those exercises—they take only six minutes! And if you do them, Lady, you won't lose your figure this summer!

What To Do

Just how does one speak of or introduce the minister of one's church? Should one say "Reverend"? How about carrying on a conversation with a minister—must one say "Reverend," or can one speak of him as "Mister"?

MRS. F. S. K.

Answer—You would ordinarily refer to your clergyman as "Mister" and when introducing him say "Mr. Jones" and add—"the minister or rector of our church," which gives his proper status. But if the clergyman of your church holds the degree of Doctor of Divinity then you may rightly speak of him as "Doctor So and So," and he should be so introduced. Ministers are often referred to in conversation as "Reverend," but it is never good form. However, you address a letter to a clergyman as "Reverend John Jones," and not "Reverend Mr. John Jones."

Your Baby And Mine

By MYRTLE MEYER ELDRED

The mother of one child is wont to say of the mother of several, "I don't know how she gets everything done." But the answer, of course, is planning and management.

Mrs. E. W. who has two little girls, 13 months and 3 years of age, said she would like a schedule which would allow both children to eat together and eat similar foods.

"How can I arrange for their nap times?" she writes. "The baby still has two naps a day, the older girl but one. The baby is off of cereals for the moment. What can I give her in place of them? She was off of vegetables for a time but I stopped offering them for a few days and now she likes them real well again."

Because many children are napping but once a day at this age you might try the one-nap-a-day routine and see if baby reacts well to it. If not go back to the morning nap.

If she can get along with but one nap both children can be fed at 7 a.m., 11:30 a.m. and 5:30 to 6 p.m.

Both can have a breakfast of cereal (or mashed bananas for the baby who is off cereal)—plus buttered toast, crisp bacon and milk to drink.

10 A.M. give them orange juice, or other fruit juices, cod liver oil—or other vitamin D and then bathe both of them in the big tub.

11:30 A.M. stew, or scraped beef patty or liver soup and vegetables or egg. Any selection of vegetables as well as crisp slivers of carrot or celery or turnip for the older child. Bread or toast and butter. A milk dessert of some type, or a gelatine dessert and milk to drink. The baby's portion of meat should be minute and the vegetables may still have to be sieved. Otherwise the same foods will do.

Nap for both children. Then an airing for both of them and supper at 5:30 to 6 of cottage cheese or custard or cereal, with a cooked, sieved fruit and milk to drink.

Put the baby to bed right after this meal and the older one not later than eight o'clock.

Our leaflet on "Schedule for Two Children" which may have to be altered for each household, indicates the mother's activities, too. To get a copy send your request with a three-cent stamped self-addressed envelope to Mrs. Eldred of the Your Baby and Mine department in care of this newspaper.

Myrtle Meyer Eldred will answer your questions about diet, general care and management of children if you will send a three-cent stamped, self-addressed envelope with your letter to Mrs. Eldred of the Your Baby and Mine department in care of The Edmonton Bulletin.

BEACH WRAP

For that extra wrap needed so often on the beaches, consider a triangular knitted wool shawl, with a deep wool fringe. It's nice for evening promenades on the boardwalk, or over bathing or play suits.

In the Samoan islands, whole villages often pack up and go on excursion visits to other islands as far as 60 miles away. The trips often last six months.

Debunker

The belief is very old that loud noises can make it start raining. Even in the time of Plutarch the clashing of sword and shield in battle was given as the cause of rain in wartime. With the coming of high explosives, the idea has become even more rooted. Even Fourth of July celebrations are held to start rains falling, but weather records actually show that no more rain falls on July 4 than other days in the month. In 1891 the United States government appropriated $9,000 for experiments in rain-making, but dynamite blasts and high explosives failed to bring the water from the skies. In 1911 C. W. Post tried to make rain near Battle Creek, Mich., and was heralded as having succeeded—but the truth was that it rained that day in about 20 states besides Michigan. Modern warfare also has shown no effect whatever upon the weather or rainfall.

HOT WATER AND SOAP

For quick, thorough dishwashing use plenty of hot water and generous soap suds, changing the water and the suds as often as needed. Use clean dishcloths and immaculate towels—or, stack the dishes in a rubber-covered wire drainer, rinse with scalding water, and dry only silver and glassware.

● Canadian housewives have made Libby's Tomato Juice their popular choice because it's "Gentle Press" method of extracting the juice retains that delicious garden-fresh flavour. Today "Gentle Press" Tomato Juice is pointing housewives the way to that same garden-fresh flavour in two more famous "Gentle Press" Tomato Products—Libby's Soup, and Catchup. To you tens of thousands of housewives who have long used "Gentle Press" Tomato Juice, Libby's say—try "Gentle Press" Tomato Soup and Catchup—you'll find both equally good.

GOOD YIELD PRAIRIE CROP IS EXPECTED

Alberta Wheat Outlook Is Encouraging — Early Sown Is Heading

WINNIPEG, July 5.—Weather conditions have caused no damage to growing crops on the prairies during the past week. While somewhat warmer temperatures have prevailed, showers have been general. Grasshoppers where found were kept under control. There are no reports of damage from rust and a long term average wheat yield generally appears likely, according to the weekly crop report of the department of agriculture, Canadian National Railways.

The outlook is encouraging in southern Alberta, weather being mostly clear and warm with rains giving needed moisture at some points. Average height of wheat is 12 inches and all grains are growing well. No damage reported from any source.

COARSE GRAINS

Early sown wheat is heading out in central Alberta with other in shot blade. Coarse grains are making good progress as moisture conditions over the whole territory are considered satisfactory. No damage from any source reported.

Throughout the Peace River empire in northern Alberta weather has been warm and showery. Wheat is in shot blade and beginning to head out, 10 to 18 inches high. No damage reported and crops generally are in good condition.

WINNIPEG, July 5.—While in north-central and northern Alberta, in northern Saskatchewan and in Manitoba the moisture condition remains for the most part favorable, crops in the south and south-central parts of Alberta and in central Saskatchewan need rain badly, says the weekly crop report of the Canadian Pacific Railway.

In north-central and northern Alberta and in northern Saskatchewan average heights of wheat are consistently good. In Manitoba with an average of 28 inches it is generally in shot blade and averaging 15 inches. Alberta stands at about 13 inches and 67 per cent in shot blade with some heading out.

GRASSHOPPERS

Some parts of southern and south-western Saskatchewan on the west end of the Stirling subdivision and in south-eastern Alberta are damaged by grasshoppers 95 per cent.

In Manitoba cutting of hay and clovers has begun and in Burdett and Grassy Lake, Alta., fall rye is under the knife.

Peace River wheat is from 10 to 20 inches high and from 20 to 100 per cent in shot blade and heading out in some places. Coarse grains in the district run from six to 15 inches in height and the crops are in generally good condition but would improve with more rain.

Sharp Advance For Hog Prices Seen In Chicago

CHICAGO, July 5.—Sharpest advance in hog prices since last September's war boom continued today at Chicago's stockyards.

With supplies comparatively small packers bid prices up 15 to 25 cents. Top soared to $6.60 per hundredweight, highest since April and up as much as $1.30 since the advance got under way about 10 days ago.

Livestock men said the sudden rise apparently was due to diminished receipts and expanding consumer demand, with choice pork loins here up a cent a pound to 17 cents, wholesale, highest since April 30. This represents a rise of 4½ cents in wholesale pork since June 25.

Trade Balance For Dominion Is Favorable

OTTAWA, July 5—Canada had a favorable balance of trade in May of $10,226,810 compared with an unfavorable balance of $1,286,841 in April and a favorable balance of $7,816,320 in May, 1939, the Dominion bureau of statistics reported today.

Domestic exports in May totalled $109,852,709 compared with $83,565,008 in April and $79,931,869 in May, 1939, and imports $100,536,837 compared with $85,979,519 in April and $72,957,080 a year ago. Foreign exports amounted to $910,938 compared with $1,127,670 in April and $842,319 last year.

Thus Canada's external trade totalled $211,300,484 in May in comparison with $170,672,197 the previous month and $153,731,936 in May, 1939.

Grimsby Asks Send Children To Canada

GRIMSBY, England, July 5—This east coast port of 90,000 population announced Thursday it is making 700 applications for evacuation of its children to Canada. A Grimsby man who moved to the United States 16 years ago has offered to provide shelter for the children of all members of his family. That means he will get nine additions to his own family of three children.

Foreign Exchange Regulations Are Studied By Board

OTTAWA, July 5.—The Foreign Exchange Control Board is considering details of the new regulation restricting issue of American funds for travel in the United States, it was learned.

The regulation instructs chartered banks to refer all applications for foreign exchange to the control board and it has not been decided definitely yet how stringent the regulation will be enforced.

SOUTH FARMS FACE PROSPECT OF LIGHT CROP

Deterioration Is Caused By Intense Heat Of Recent Days

LETHBRIDGE, July 5.—Southern Alberta farmers face prospects of a light crop, Lethbridge grain men said yesterday following intense temperatures recently which caused crop deterioration.

Wheat is heading out at from 16 to 18 inches in height and the heads generally are small. Dry land crops will yield below 20 bushels per acre, grain men predict, with some places as low as 10 to 15 bushels. Temperatures this week have climbed over 91 above and with only spotty thunder showers in the district all crops are in need of rain.

In southwestern areas of the province yields are expected to be better than in drier sections centreing around Taber. Taber territory needs rain within a week, grain men said. Foothills areas are good, but a "soaker" is awaited.

Precipitation for June here was only 1.10 inches, compared to a 37-year average of 2.70. Last year Lethbridge recorded 5.03 inches of precipitation in June.

In irrigated districts heavy drain is being made on projects as all farmers attempt to pour water on thirsty crops. One of the projects is faced with an acute water shortage and farmer subscribers on the Canadian Pacific Railways irrigation system are expected to be placed on a rotation plan towards the end of this week, said F. G. Cross, superintendent of operation and maintenance.

WHEAT TRADE DEPENDS UPON WAR OUTCOME

Hitler Victory Might Force Abandonment Of Huge Acreage

British United Press
Exclusive to Edmonton Bulletin

REGINA, July 5—The whole future of Canada's wheat industry hangs in the balance because of Hitler's drive in Europe, Hon. J. G. Taggart, minister of agriculture for Saskatchewan, declared.

Complete Nazi domination of Europe if effected, and followed by application of the German theory of self-sufficiency, might force abandonment of more than 10,000,000 acres of low grade wheat land through the west to sheep ranching, the minister said.

Taggart stressed his views were not based on facts, but upon some of the possible outcomes of the European struggle.

Canada already has lost potential export markets for 35,000,000 bushels of wheat on the basis of 1939-40 exports because of overseas events. In all Europe now, there is just one market—that for Great Britain and Eire which last year drew about 92,000,000 bushels.

Entire reorientation of the Dominion's wheat industry would be necessary if a complete Nazi victory were to ensue in Europe.

"As far as we are concerned, it would seem to me western Canada would have to abandon something like 10,000,000 acres of our least productive land and probably devote it to sheep ranching," he said.

"The reason I suggest this is that wool and mutton are the only important livestock products of which there is a deficiency at the present time in Canada. A development of that kind would mean the depopulation of some areas and complete readjustment of our local government organizations, such as municipalities, schools, telephone companies and road services," Taggart forecast.

If such circumstances were to arise, Taggart did not think that production of power alcohol and industrial products from wheat would be feasible. Large quantities of cheap raw materials such as potatoes, corn sorghum or sugar were needed for the purpose and they could be produced in greater quantity "and greater surety than we can produce wheat here."

The Cause of Eye Diseases
By Jackson Bros., Optometrist.

It has been advanced and proven that eyestrain is the one great cause of eye diseases. That diseases of the eye which cause blindness are caused by imperfect circulation of blood in and around the eye. This poor circulation can nearly always be traced to over use or strain of the eyes by using them under improper conditions. The eye has been taxed at some time.

The strain thus produced causes an irritation and congestion of the delicate nerves and muscles of the eye and an imperfect blood supply results. If the blood supply and circulation is cut off from the optic nerve it causes paralysis either partial or complete; if from the crystalline lens of the eye cataract is the result. Any other eye disease may result from a like cause according to the part affected.

When you consider the intricate mechanism of this delicate organ, with its numerous muscles, nerves and blood vessels, you realize how easily its usefulness may become impaired.

It can readily be seen how eyestrain affects the whole entire body of the person thus afflicted with this condition, and the sooner it is taken care of the better.

Take care of your eyes and your eyes will take care of you.

Visit our eye-test clinic which is open to you every day except Sundays and holidays. Our registered Optometrist will give your eyes a thorough eyesight examination.

If you require glasses you may have the use of them while wearing them by using our well established easy payment plan in weekly or monthly payments.

PLANS SPEED ON PLACEMENT OF EVACUEES

D. E. Cameron, University Librarian, Heads Edmonton Committee

Outline of plans for the speeding-up of preparations for Alberta's reception of evacuee children from the British Isles were presented at a meeting in the Macdonald Thursday night. Attending were Edmonton representatives of service, community and fraternal organizations, from among whom a local committee headed by D. E. Cameron, librarian of the University of Alberta, was selected.

Steps to be taken in reception and distribution of the children who are expected to arrive in Alberta about July 18 were discussed.

Succeeding Rev. Dr. G. A. Macdonald, who resigned to devote more time as chairman of the new provincial committee on evacuees, Mr. Cameron was named chairman of the Edmonton committee to act with Mrs. F. C. Casselman, vice-chairman; H. R. Milner, K.C., treasurer; D. R. Innes, secretary; Most Rev. J. H. Macdonald, Roman Catholic archbishop of Edmonton, honorary chairman.

Executive members are E. E. Roper, L. Y. Cairns, K.C., H. A. Friedman, K.C., and Prof. G. A. Elliott.

SUB-COMMITTEE

Appointment of a sub-committee on information was suggested by Miss Lillian Thomson, executive director of the Edmonton Council of Social Agencies, and Rev. J. Gordon Brown, president of the Edmonton Ministerial association was named as chairman, and Miss Thomson as a member. John M. Imrie agreed to arrange for the nomination of representatives of the daily press and radio stations CJCA and CFRN. Richard MacDonald was named at the meeting to represent CKUA.

BOMBER FUND NOW NEARING $6,000 MARK

Contributions of $337 brought the Bolingbroke bombing plane fund of the I.O.D.E. within sight of its objective of $7,000 Friday when donations by the Alphaus Patterson chapter, Grande Prairie, $152, and the Colonel Lydon chapter, Clareholm, $165, swelled the fund to $5,821.30.

In aid of the Twentieth Century Ambulance fund, members of the Stageties club held a dance at the Star Dairy Thursday evening. A tag day will be held Saturday, and on Thursday of next week a garden party will be held at the Highlands home of Joseph A. Clarke, K.C., and Mrs. Clarke in aid of the project. Contributions Friday totalled $1,103.72. Purchase price of an ambulance is $1,750.

Shipment of six boxes of hospital and refugee supplies this week was reported Friday by Red Cross society officials.

Special account of the Red Cross, for ambulances to be used in service overseas reached $1,141.58 Friday. The account, to which contributions are being made by residents of Edmonton and district, has been opened in the main branch of the Bank of Montreal, Jasper at 101 street.

Blankets are still pouring in to the Red Cross depots in the Cattlestock block and Tegler building, and are being held in the city for use in the placement of British children scheme. It is anticipated, Robert Muir, chairman of the Edmonton branch said, that the blankets will be used in the Camrose Normal school dormitory where the children will be housed.

WELSH WILL PROVIDE AID FOR EVACUEES

Welsh people in city and district who are prepared to offer the hospitality of their homes to Welsh children being evacuated from Wales are asked to register their names with either E. E. Davies, 10250 Wadhurst road, or E. G. Buckley, 10241 125 street, who will see that arrangements are completed with the provincial authorities in charge of placement of children generally.

This move is being made by the executive of the St. David's Welsh Society of this city in an effort to assist with the placement of the British evacuee children expected to arrive here July 18. The society believes it can do much to offer a real welcome to those for their kin whose ways of living they know intimately.

Tourists Are Thronging South Side Auto Camp: Visitors Laud Scenery

"The icefields are simply wonderful!" is the comment heard around the South Side Auto Camp these days, according to S. Taylor, manager of the camp. A steady stream of American and Canadian tourists have been stopping at the camp since late June while en route to either Jasper or Calgary, and all those who have just passed over the new Banff-Jasper road are particularly enthusiastic about its scenic beauties.

Cars from practically all the north, central and Pacific coast states have been registered. A big reason for their visit to this part of Canada, the American tourists assert, has been the inducive advertising campaign sponsored by the provincial and Dominion governments regarding the new highway and its attractions.

The travellers from "south of the border" have few complaints to make about the condition of the roads in the province.

50 CABINS

All the cabins constructed this spring are expected to be completed soon. By July 15 the camp will have 50 fully-equipped cabins available for tourist accommodation. With fine weather promised for the summer and the new Jasper-Banff highway completed, the camp is expecting record-breaking advances in the tourist trade.

The South Side Auto Camp, located on the Calgary highway, just south of the South Side Athletic Park, is operated by the Alberta Motor Association, and is managed by Mr. and Mrs. S. Taylor.

ROAD REPORTS

Safety Slogan: Don't break traffic bylaws—set an example.

Friday's Road Reports: Dirt roads good; main highways fair to good. Peace River roads are good. Banff-Jasper road is still closed on account of forest fires.

A-R-O-U-N-D THE TOWN

Hon. Solon E. Low, provincial treasurer, is holidaying in the southern part of the province. Notice of his election to the legislature for the Vegreville constituency has been published in the Alberta Gazette. He was returned by acclamation.

Benchers of the Law Society of Alberta met Friday morning at the court house in the semi-annual convocation to deal with routine and other matters affecting the organization. W. E. Payne, K.C., Red Deer, president of the society, presided at the meeting.

Funeral services for Jennie Luck, age 37, of 10173 107 street, and waitress at the Corona hotel, who was killed in a highway accident near Everett, Wash., last Sunday, were held Friday morning from St. Joseph's cathedral. Interment took place in the Edmonton Catholic cemetery. Connelly and McKinley were in charge of arrangements.

Offices of the Alberta Board of Industrial Relations have been moved from the Terrace building, where they have been since inception of the board in 1936, to the 3rd floor of the Provincial building, formerly the Kelly-Ramsey building, corner of 101A street and 101A avenue. Clayton Adams is chairman of the board.

Two reports were tabled and a third filed in one of the shortest meetings of the civic bylaws committee on record. Bylaws dealing with early closing and natural gas conservation were tabled pending further investigation, while a petition by retail jewelers against sale of jewelry by canvassers and salesmen was filed. The meeting lasted less than two minutes. Lt. Col. E. Brown, M.M., E.D., garrison commandant and city alderman, presided.

WAR SAVINGS SALES REACH $155,000 NOW

Sale of war savings certificates and stamps through Edmonton chartered banks gathered new impetus during the past week with approximately $40,000 being sold to patriotic Albertans.

Total sales to date amount to $155,000, it was announced by J. G. Nickerson, manager, Royal Bank of Canada, who is chairman of the bankers' committee for war certificate sales.

Throughout the northern part of the province the response has been extremely gratifying, stated Mr. Nickerson, who predicted a large increase in sales as the campaign gets fully organized.

STRENGTH FIXED MILITIA UNITS AT SARCEE CAMP

Tentative strength of units of the Non-Permanent Active Militia of the Edmonton Garrison, which will attend annual camp at Sarcee, near Calgary, from Sept. 1 to Sept. 15 next, has been established, according to Lt. Col. E. Brown, M.M., E.D., Area Commandant.

Strength at camp has been set as follows: 19th Alberta Dragoons, 10 officers and 90 other ranks; 96th Field Battery, R.C.A., six officers and 69 other ranks; Edmonton Fusiliers (M.G.), 10 officers and 290 other ranks; Second Battalion, the Edmonton Regiment, 10 officers and 290 other ranks.

Col. Brown also announced that five officers had arrived at the Infantry Training Centre as reinforcements for the Edmonton Regiment. These officers have completed their training here and will now round it out at the Infantry Training Centre, Calgary, prior to joining the regiment now overseas.

Col. Brown reported that regular Garrison church parades would be held Sunday. The Protestants will hold an open air service at 9:30 a.m. and the Roman Catholics will parade to Sacred Heart church.

The Inquiring Reporter

THE QUESTION

What do you think of the idea of giving war saving certificates as birthday presents and bridge party prizes instead of the usual gifts?

THE ANSWERS

RODNEY McNEIL, student: That's an excellent suggestion. War saving certificates are a mighty good investment and besides they are the best method of helping in Canada's war effort. The next time I have a scrap with the girl friend I'll send her a certificate instead of flowers.

OSBORNE SHEDDY, salesman: I'm all in favor of the idea. War saving certificates should be used wherever possible. Salesmen and other travellers can use them for tips instead of the usual 25-cent piece. There are all kinds of ways of using them.

* * *

GLEN McTAVISH, laborer: That's an idea that really warms my Scotch heart. War savings certificates are a real sound investment—both in the financial returns and because of the fact that by using them we are aiding Canada's war effort and thus helping to preserve the ideals and freedom that we love so well.

League Federation Holds Three-Day Fete To Assist Evacuees

Greeted by a crowd of almost three thousand people, the Federation of Community Leagues Grand Carnival got underway Thursday evening, to continue through Friday and Saturday. A dance is held every evening.

One of the first affairs of its kind in the present campaign of war relief, the carnivals being staged with the object of building up a fund to assist evacuee English children being billeted in this country shortly.

From the time the gates opened at seven p.m. the 25 amusements and skill-games were packed, many of the visitors walking away with attractive prizes offered by younger members of the community leagues who volunteered their services as "barkers". Contests of every description, from weight-guessing to bell-ringing are featured nightly in the pavilion on 102 street just north of Jasper avenue.

As a further inducement to citizens contemplating a visit, such valuable prizes as silverware, travelling cases and lamps are given away every half-hour to holders of the lucky numbers drawn from a basket in the main tent.

Following are the prize winners at the carnival Thursday: Mrs. B. H. Ward, 10535 80 Avenue; Al Mercer, Suite 2, Kirkalla Block; Isabella Henshalwood, 10152 94 street; Mrs. J. Langford 10422 84 avenue; Frances Szecienski 10545 82 avenue.

There were 19,279 telephones in service in the city for the week ending July 1 compared with 18,349 for the same period last year, according to statistics released by the city telephone department Friday. Collections for the week totalled $5,539.11 to bring the total to date this year to $348,261.60. Total collections for the same period in 1939 were $334,139.51.

TAG DAY WILL PUT LAST WHEEL ON AMBULANCE

To put the last wheel on the publicly-donated ambulance and send it rolling overseas for service with the Allied forces, officials of the Twentieth Century ambulance fund are holding a tag day on Saturday, for funds.

The purchase price of an ambulance is $1,750 and contributions to the fund Friday stood at $1,151.73. Citizens are asked to complete the fund by generous donations on Saturday. Mrs. K. Montgomery is in charge.

BETTY MARY JORDAN—Pretty young Border Patrol service secretary.

SHERIDAN STARR — Handsome Border Patrol officer.

HOPE KILDARE—Starr's fellow officer, also a bachelor.

LUIS BARRO—Mexican smuggler.

Yesterday: Barro suspicions Betty, tells her so and then she is carried off by two of Barro's lieutenants to another part of the house. She retains her hysteria because resistance is useless.

CHAPTER XX

ON the afternoon that Inspector Hope Kildare, of the United States Immigration and Naturalization Service, admitted that he was in love with Betty Mary Jordan, the first coolness in all their memory came between him and Sheridan Starr.

The Kildare and Starr families had lived in another part of Texas side by side. The parents had been close friends. Young Sheridan and young Hope had enjoyed first fights as small youngsters, but only in teamwork fighting some one else. They had romped and enjoyed life through grade school, high school, thence into college. Perfect athletes, they had achieved wide fame as football players. What one had attained the other had shared, always. And now there was conflict over pretty Betty Mary Jordan.

"Well, Hope," Sheridan said that evening, when they would have gone to supper together as usual, "if it's not a sin for you to love her, I guess it's not a sin for me either. I guess we can't either of us help it. You ready to go eat now?"

Hope did not look at his friend. He was staring vacantly away.

"Reckon I'm not hungry," he said finally.

Sheridan went without another word. He did not depart whistling, or bantering with other officers in the headquarters offices as he was wont to do. He just walked glumly out, alone.

He didn't know how long he had walked, but when he came to himself at last it was dark. From force of habit he drifted to a favorite cafe and told the waitress there to bring him anything—just anything. She put down a good meal but he ate less than half of it. He got up and wandered out without thinking even to pay his check. The cashier saw him, but didn't disturb him; she knew he was an excellent, steady customer.

"Mr. Starr acts like he'd lost his best friend," the waitress commented.

"Got the blues, I guess," said the cashier. "Well, we all get 'em. He'll snap out of it. He's young."

"Gee, he's grand!" the waitress murmured.

"You said it!"

Sheridan surprised his landlady by stalking into his room at 9 p.m. She even came out to inquire about him.

"Not going away or something, are you, son?" She was a kindly soul who tried to mother him.

"I'm Mrs. Bascom, I—well, I'm a little weary. Thought I'd get a good night's shut-eye."

"We're proud of you and Mr. Hope, the way you boys have been breaking up narcotic smuggling lately. Your friends are all talking about it."

"Thank you ma'am."

"I'll just set a pot of coffee on the stove for you, and there's half a cocoanut cake on the second shelf, son. You might want a snack before you lie down."

He thanked her but he didn't eat. He went to bed and pulled out the light—and lay there thinking in circles until midnight. Then he slept until dawn.

"It's like this, Mrs. Bascom," Sheridan Starr was drawling at breakfast. "I don't aim to stop any man from loving a girl, especially a friend, but in a case like this I figure it hit us both at once and we ought to sort of draw straws to see which one steps out. Now I studied about it hard last night, and—"

Sherry was eating with Mrs. Bascom herself, in one of the rare occasions when he ate where he had a room. He was a guest, partly because she had shrewdly seen that something disturbed him. Motherlike, she soon had him telling everything; he really needed a talk.

"No, son," she interrupted, "that wouldn't do. It might do if you boys were quarreling over money, or anything else valuable—except a girl. But you can't draw straws for a girl."

"Why can't we, ma'am? Hope's square. And I'm sure I could step out of the picture if I lost."

"No. It doesn't matter that both of you are squares, as you of course are. That's not it. The loser might think he could just back off and forget it. But he couldn't. He just couldn't. It would rankle and gnaw inside him and eat his soul out, Sheridan!"

Sherry swallowed hard, laboring over his food, his handsome young face strained.

"Now I'm an old woman, son, and I've seen a lot. Let me tell you, there's only one person can decide between you boys and that's the girl herself. If she says she doesn't want one of you, then you can mope around a few weeks and maybe forget it all, after that; or maybe you can never forget, maybe you'll just go on loving her always, regardless. But, in that case, if she does choose the other fellow, then you'd know it was right and proper, even if you did lose. You can just bury your feelings as a sorrow. The other way, you try to bury it but it swells up as a bitterness and an anger, and first thing you know you just have to fight, some way. It's the man in you that does it, son. Now you and Hope go and have that understanding between yourselves, in advance."

Sheridan thought it sound advice.

He had a profound respect for old Mrs. Bascom. By 8 o'clock he was downtown looking for Hope, but when they met, Hope was still so cold and so oddly formal that he couldn't bring himself to say much.

"Lordy, Hopey, whyn't we go somewhere and get it off our chest," he suggested, finally. "Where we can talk. We can swap our ideas about the matter and maybe get somewhere, can't we?"

Hope still wouldn't look into his friend's eyes.

"Don't see anything to talk about."

"Well, we still have to work together, don't we? Or do we? What about that, Hope?"

"I guess so. That—that hasn't anything to do with it, Betty Mary hasn't anything to do with—with the jobs, I guess. It's just that—well, she damn sure can't marry both of us, and—"

"She hasn't said she'd marry either of us yet," said Sherry. "Or maybe she has. Say, have you asked her?" A sudden alarm had struck Sheridan.

Hope ignored that, but put in another significant point.

"More important now, it seems to me, is that her window signals are still missing."

"Good lord!" Sherry jumped up. "I plumb forgot that! Did you look to see? This morning? My gosh, Hopey, I been mooning around all night, and—say, let's go look at her window now!"

"It isn't necessary," Hope declared, somewhat sourly. "I have just looked. In fact I looked all night. I changed outa my uniform, spent the time from 9 last evening until daybreak searching every nook and corner in Juarez. She's holding her room, but the Montezuma Hotel had no knowledge of her whereabouts and I couldn't find a trace of her anywhere."

"Whew!" breathed Sherry Starr, consternation in his voice.

STUDENTS AT CITY COURSES GET WELCOME

Summer School Executive Is Elected At University Session

A mass meeting of students attending summer school was officially welcomed Thursday by Dr. E. W. Sheldon, professor of mathematics at the university. In a short speech of welcome, Dr. Sheldon stressed the extensive period of work and recreation that the next few weeks will present. Although work was the primary objective, Dr. Sheldon explained that recreation was still to play an important part in the students' summer life.

He suggested that the motto of the summer session might be summed up in three words, kindness, humor and courage. The quality of humor is the one that makes the other two possible, but in these days of stress all are needed. In closing, he again exhorted the students to have a full program of work and fun.

William H. Swift, welcomed the student teachers on behalf of the department of education, and commented on the large enrolment. Mr. Swift was head of the teachers' summer session last year as well as this term and recently received the appointment to the principalship of the Calgary Normal school.

Dr. M. E. Lazerte, head of the college of education, welcomed the teachers on behalf of the Alberta Teachers' Association. He offered the full co-operation of the A.T.A. wherever it could be of any help.

The executive was empowered to investigate some means of raising a contribution to the Canadian war effort. This move received enthusiastic support from the students.

The new executive elected follows: president, M. Frechill, Marwayne; secretary, C. Mertz, Heisler; treasurer, N. W. Sovijka, Willingdon; press correspondent, Bill Davidson, Benalto; vice-president, George Clark, Lougheed; convener of men's athletics, O. Larsen, Irma; convener of social committee G. Lambert, Abbotsford, B.C.; convener of women's athletics, Miss M. J. Whitney, Stavely.

A motion to discontinue the midsummer prom was left to the discretion of the executive.

A meeting of the Edmonton school board will be held in the board room, Civic Block, Tuesday, July 9, at 8 p.m.

Enemy Aliens Get Police Warning To Register Guns

Following convictions against persons charged under the section of the War Measures Act dealing with possession of firearms by enemy aliens, R.C.M.P. here have issued another warning to enemy aliens that they must at once surrender firearms and explosives they may have in their possession to police or face prosecution and stiff penalties.

It is pointed out by police that persons who keep in their possession firearms belonging to alien enemies are also liable to prosecution under the terms of the War Measures Act.

200 STUDENTS HEAR LECTURE EMPIRE POWER

Prof. Long Says Commonwealth Will Unify the World After War

Two hundred students attending University and Department of Education summer courses here attended a lecture by Prof. M. H. Long on Canada and the Empire in which he stressed the sea power of the Empire as a unifying factor in the world. The address was given Thursday evening in the Medical Building at the University.

Germany, he declared, was completely blocked off from the sea by the strength of the British navy.

Second in importance to the Empire is the extensive trade that is carried out within the Empire, making the Commonwealth practically self-sustaining and making same trade relations possible.

Thirdly our free institutions, although not producing galvanic progress, will tend to produce true lasting progress. Canada, he said, has evolved the system of self government that has been adopted in all of the British Commonwealth of Nations.

Today, Canadians enjoy the benefits of the British freedom, without any compulsory allegiance to the Empire as a whole. However, the response of the Empire would indicate that from this present day inferno, the united Commonwealth will emerge as the organizing force to unify the world into the small family of nations that it logically should be.

A question period followed.

1,223 ENTRIES OF LIVESTOCK IN EXHIBITION

Leading East Shorthorn to Contest Classes at Annual Fair

A total of 1,223 entries was reviewed in all livestock classes for the Edmonton Exhibition Association's summer fair, it was announced by P. W. Abbott, K.C., managing director, Tuesday. Largest gain was made in the Shorthorn classes which jumped from 84 in 1939 to 102 this year. Entries in other classes were well above the average of former years, Mr. Abbott stated.

Invasion of western Canada by three of the leading Shorthorn breeders in Ontario is mainly responsible for the large increase in these classes. The breeders seeking to wrest laurels at the prairie circuit class A fairs are James Douglas and Sons, Caledonia, John Gardhouse and Sons, Weston, and F. H. Deacon, Unionville, Ontario.

LEADING EXHIBITORS

To meet this competition entries have been received from E. J. C. Brake, Acme, and W. D. MacDonald, Grainger, and other leading Alberta exhibitors.

In the Hereford classes entries have been received from Charles Bull and Sons, Calgary; W. P. Williams, Bruderheim, and Miss F. E. Boggs, Bettrel, daughter of the internationally known breeder F. E. Boggs.

The Ontario exhibitors, Edwards Brothers, are sending a large number of animals through the western fair circuit this year and will be up against stiff competition in the Aberdeen-Angus classes. Entries have been received in this cattle section from the C.P.R. Department of Natural Resources, Calgary, and other well-known western exhibitors.

In the Ayrshire and Holstein-Friesian classes competition is confined to Alberta and Saskatchewan exhibitors. In the former classes entries have been sent in by Mrs. Agnes Steel, Neptune, Saskatchewan, a new-comer to the Edmonton show ring; Richards Brothers, Red Deer and James Taylor, North Cooking, Alberta. J. W. Hosford, Edmonton, C.P.R. farm Strathmore, and Hays and Company, Calgary, are the leading exhibitors in the Holstein-Friesian classes.

JERSEY CLASSES

A. E. Dunville, Sardis, British Columbia, has entered a large number of his herd in the Jersey cattle classes. He will be met by stiff competition from local exhibitors.

Manitoba and British Columbia exhibitors have made entries in the different sheep classes, with R. B. Hunter, Winnipeg, exhibiting in the Shropshire and Southdown classes; Manville Coloney, Pigeon Lake, Man, and Douglas R. Piggott, McMurdo, Golden, B.C., sending competitors in the Suffolk classes.

This invasion will be met with entries from F. R. Haythorne, and E. B. Williamson, Edmonton, C.P.R. Natural Resources, Calgary, and other local breeders. In the Oxford classes, S. Crossman, Winnipeg, is the only exhibitor from outside the province.

Since last year considerable improvements have been made in the livestock judging ring. Trees have been planted round the cattle ring, while a new ring has been constructed for the showing of heavy and light horses. This is placed immediately east of the arena and is beautifully landscaped.

Victim Of Attack Shows Improvement In City Hospital

Victim of an attack by unidentified thugs last Saturday night, Herman McGlone, 50, Lac La Biche, is showing slight improvement in the Royal Alexandra hospital. The injured man, who suffered a fractured skull when his head hit a catch basin, is still unconscious. As a result, police are handicapped in their search for his assailants, who were seen only at a distance by two witnesses, whose description is sketchy.

It is thought by hospital officials that the attack victim now has a fair chance of recovery.

McGlone, visiting the city for the holiday weekend with a daughter, was set upon by two men at the corner of 97 street and 104 avenue. The attackers fled west along 104 avenue after McGlone fell to the pavement.

109 Retail Men Hear Address By Food Official

More than 100 retailers, wholesalers and primary producers in Edmonton and district gathered at the I.O.O.F. hall on 103 street Thursday evening to hear an address by H. G. S. Houghman, Toronto, chairman of the Canadian Food Distributing Corporation of Canada and Dominion secretary of the Retail Merchants' Association of Alberta. G. W. Hazlett, vice-president, presided.

During the meeting a resolution was passed asking the Alberta association to present evidence at the Dominion inquiry to be held in Saskatoon July 19 on unfair trade practices. It was also decided to try to extend the work of the Canadian Fruit Distributing Council to the west. At the present time the council is only operating in the east.

Among those attending the meeting were A. Shely of Saskatoon and A. C. McKay of Calgary, and A. C. McKay of aCligary.

Secret Session Lasts 6½ Hours

LONDON, July 5. The House of Commons ended its secret session late last night after 6½ hours of debate.

MORE MUSCLE IS ADDED TO POLICE FORCE

Law-breakers and wrong-doers in the city are in for more trouble if it would seem, for the arm of the law has had more muscle added.

It was announced Friday by Chief Constable G. G. Shute that Archie Ritchie, 240 pounds of bone and muscle, and former rugby star, has joined the force as a constable.

Ritchie was for several years prominent in local rugby football circles, having played with junior and senior clubs here, usually at centre. He has performed for the junior and senior Eskimo clubs and for a while played with the Calgary Bronks in the Western Conference.

In addition to packing 240 pounds of weight the new policeman stands six feet six inches in his stocking feet and is 29 years of age.

SUICIDE NOTES STILL MYSTERY: POLICE PROBING

Police were without a definite solution Friday morning concerning the actions of J. (Gus) Zerb, Leduc automobile dealer, whose abandoned car containing two notes strongly indicating suicide, was found near the low level bridge early Thursday.

No body has been observed in the river and police here are inclined to think that the implied threats contained in the notes were not carried out.

Zerb, it was ascertained, had been in the city, off and on, for more than a week, discussing affairs concerning his auto business with representatives of Edmonton auto firms. There was nothing in the nature of these discussions that should have led to Zerb ending his life, police state.

The man was last observed by friends at about 8 p.m. Wednesday.

The two notes, one addressed to "Honey" and the second to a local automobile firm, contained the suggestion that Zerb had been trying to straighten out some affair and had failed.

The missing man had worked at the Hi-Way Garage, Leduc. Police here are continuing the search.

Through The Mill

Robert Louis Stevenson's rough but rowdy buccaneers used to really go to town after singing that well-known ditty: "Yo ho ho and a bottle of rum." Well, it appears that rum has lost none of it's swift action-provoking qualities; at least, that was the impression you'd gain over at police court Friday after hearing details of an assault alleged to have occurred recently in a hospitable lady's apartment here.

It seems the young fellow, charged with the assault, had dropped in to a lady friend's apartment late one evening. She had invited him to partake of a cup of tea. Scorning tea as a sissy drink late in the evening the chap had thrown out a broad hint that he could go for something with more kick.

* * *

The hint got quick results for the lady suggested a hot rum cocktail. There were two nice young ladies present, and each was served a round of rum. Nobody had long to wait before the "Yo Ho" stage set in with the young man.

According to the complainant the young man started off by pinching her not playfully but painfully. Things calmed down for a moment and the hectic hero of the evening downed another couple of hot rums and then action was resumed in real earnest.

* * *

The complainant said she touched the young man's scarf and remarked that she had one of similar color and for this harmless gesture she was dealt an assortment of punches to the jaw that loosened several teeth. Later she had fled to the kitchen pursued by the rum-ridden rascal, who showered blows at her on the way. Finally police were called and things again calmed down.

On the witness stand the young man admitted he was pretty woozy about what happened after getting the second hot rum under his belt. He claimed, however, that he was pretty sore at the lady for attempting to seize his drink, which was allegedly stronger than that served to the others present.

This excuse didn't go over very well with the cash who fined him guilty and said after assessing him $20 and costs with the alternative of 30 days in jail: "You had better put yourself on the interdict list. The kind of conduct described here is disgraceful."

Two ordinary drunks were fined the usual $20 and costs, while a man accused of non-support was placed on suspended sentence for 12 months and ordered to provide for his wife.

117 Periodicals Banned In Canada

OTTAWA, July 5—Entry of 117 United States periodicals into Canada has been banned since the start of the war and eight or 10 others are in process of being excluded according to a return tabled in the House of Commons yesterday in answer to a question from T. L. Church (Con., Toronto-Broadview).

Guinea pigs can be eaten but are not generally used in this manner.

PARK BLAZE BURNING OUT REPORT SAYS

Fire Under Control Near Mountain Road—150 Men On Guard

Fire raging 100 miles south of Jasper, in the Banff National Park and a few miles west of the Jasper-Banff scenic highway, has been brought under control, according to information reaching here. The blaze has been successfully surrounded and 150 men are working to stamp it out.

Weather continues hot and dry in the area, making the fire-fighters work difficult. Rain would extinguish the flames in short order, it is reported.

Many motorists have been making a longer stay in Jasper Park than planned on account of the highway being closed as a result of this fire.

Among those waiting for the re-opening of the highway are 46 motorists from Quebec who plan to visit Vancouver in the course of a dominion-wide tour.

Thirty men, trapped in crossfires, were rescued with difficulty by the main body of their comrades, but they lost all their equipment. They were trapped in a wooded valley by two spot fires springing up behind them. A party of about 50 other fighters fought their way through flying embers and thick smoke to reach the gang and bring them through a narrow bottleneck between the blazes, to safety.

All equipment was lost but P. J. Jennings, superintendent of Banff National Park, believed some of the pumps could be salvaged, as they were thrown in creeks by the men. Hoses, blankets and tents were destroyed. Many lost personal possessions.

Exclusive to Edmonton Bulletin

ROCKY MOUNTAIN HOUSE, July 5.—The forest fire at Ricinus is almost out and half the fire-fighting crew was brought back to town Thursday night. Twenty men were left on the job to put out a few small blazes and watch that the fire does not spring up again. It is feared that fire has gone down into muskeg where it may smoulder for months and where it is almost impossible to extinguish.

Winds abated Thursday afternoon which gave fighters an advantage. More than 100 acres of excellent timber was lost, valued at $12,000. There was no farm damage nor any buildings burned except half a dozen empty trappers cabins of no value.

Forestry officials are back in town after spending two days and three nights at the fire.

Professor To Give Lecture On Reason Empire Is Fighting

Address on the subject of: "Why we are at war" by Norman MacKenzie, professor of private and international law at the University of Manitoba is scheduled at Convocation Hall on July 8 at 8:15 p.m. Lecture is staged under the joint sponsorship of the department of education and the extension department.

The meeting is one in a series arranged for students attending summer sessions but the general public is also welcome.

Joint Clydesdale, Shorthorn Day At Lacombe Saturday

Combined Clydesdale and Shorthorn day will be held at the Dominion government experimental station, Lacombe next Saturday.

On Friday and Saturday, July 5 and 6 there will be a joint rally at the experimental station by the Central Alberta Livestock Association and the Alberta U.F.A. Co-operative.

A picnic lunch will be served at noon Saturday, under the maple avenue. Visitors must bring their own lunches but tea, coffee cream, sugar and cups will be provided.

TODAY Lieutenant Jack Bowen, son of Lt.-Col. P. E. Bowen and Mrs Bowen, leaves for St. Thomas, Ontario, to go into active service with the Royal Canadian Air Force, and his scores of friends and shooting pals are wishing him nothing but bullseyes.

Pat Comiskey Becomes Potential Title Threat

By GAYLE TALBOT
Associated Press Sport Writer

NEW YORK, July 5.—Pat Comiskey, the tall, blond puncher from Paterson, N.J., still appears to be the only heavyweight in the United States who might, in time, give Joe Louis a real fight for his title.

Comiskey has improved tremendously in the last eight months, since his meteoric rise was slowed temporarily by the cagey veteran, Steve Dudas, and he looks now as though he will go on to challenge for the crown.

There is a strong possibility he will be signed today to fight Buddy Baer in the fall. If Pat gets past the younger of the Baers, then it is a fairly safe bet he will have his try at the big negro about a year from now.

Al Weill, who manages Lou Ambers, Arturo Godoy and about 40 others, is one of the latest to climb on the Comiskey bandwagon.

"When I seen him the other night I couldn't hardly believe my eyes," Al volunteered. "The kid's got a nifty left now to go with that right of his."

Pat always could knock them bowlegged with his right.

Maple Leafs Hang Up 10-4 Victory Over Reds

MAPLE LEAFS again took the measure of the West End Reds in a junior lacrosse game last night by a score of 10-4, at the Central rink grounds. They easily had the best of the play in the last three periods and showed much superior passing and working in on the net, giving C. McCallum a very busy time of it and he stopped a flock of shots at that.

The Reds had Brusseau and Legasse of the Jesuit College team on their lineup and Legasse showed up well on the defence. A. Newsome bagged three goals for the Leafs and W. Dutchak and R. Newsome got two each. Norman McCallum was high scorer for the Reds with two.

Play was fairly even in the first quarter and Ab Newsome's first goal for the Leafs at 4:20 was neutralized four minutes later by Dave McKenzie. Rolly Newsome came back with another at 9:47, but the Reds were going strong and tied up the game 15 seconds later, Webb scoring a nice goal on a pass from Legasse.

Wetaskiwin Mustangs Have Night Of Errors

DETERMINED to hoist his Dodgers out of the cellar without any more fooling around, Skipper Ralph Morgan got tough last night. Figuratively speaking, he spit on his hands and went to work on the pitcher's mound himself against the Wetaskiwin Mustangs to hang a 9-0 shutout on them—the most decisive trimming they have taken here.

Morgan had plenty of stuff on his slants and hobbled the Mustang batters tightly. He yielded only three hits, Elchuk's triple in the third, and singles by Perley and Palechek in the fourth and sixth.

Mustangs were off on the wrong foot last night. The club had car trouble on the way in and the game had to be held up for 15 minutes for the arrival of enough players to start the game. Even then several changes had to be made in the usual lineup.

Whether it was these things that upset the club or whether it was just their bad night, they proceeded to boot fielding chances left and right. When it was all over they had a total of eight errors chalked up against them—more than they have had in any two previous games.

After Morgan crossed the plate in the first inning with the Dodgers initial run, the game settled down into nip and tuck ball until the sixth when the Dodgers counted three. Stewart and McCauley singled after each other and then Williams scored them both with a booming three-bagger. Lupul followed Williams to bat and laid down a bunt that brought Williams in safely.

Two singles and an error put Morgan across the plate in the seventh with the Dodgers' fifth run. In the eighth the Mustang infield went completely haywire and contributed four errors which, added to two two-baggers, gave Dodgers four more runs.

Only four of the Dodgers' runs were earned off Pitcher Jimmy Rattlesnake.

Horseshoe Pitchers To Seek Major Title Here

CREAM of Alberta's horseshoe pitchers will gather in Edmonton during Exhibition week to compete in the Alberta provincial championships. The championship tournament will be staged under the auspices of the Canadian Horseshoe Pitchers' Association with the single and doubles title at stake.

W. J. Ross, Edmonton, superintendent of the competition, which is sponsored by the Edmonton Exhibition Association, stated Thursday that play in the three open events and the singles novice events will get under way on Monday, July 15, opening day of the fair, and will be continued through until Friday night.

Defending champion in the singles, Ed. Ashton, Fort Saskatchewan, will be on hand to defend his title against all comers and according to Mr. Ross he will have [illegible] stiff competition this year.

In the doubles championship the Grant brothers from Spruce Grove have signified their intention of again seeking the doubles title which they had won on three previous occasions.

Teams from many of the towns and villages [illegible] entries is expected in the [illegible] events.

Entries in the different events must be made [illegible] the evening prior to the [illegible] ing in that event, Mr. Ross announced. Referees for the different contests will be selected from a committee of the contestants.

Lou Nova Would Fight Either Baer Or Galento

LOS ANGELES, July 5.—Taking a moment off to hand Tony Galento another nickname, California Lou Nova said yesterday he wants a chance to climb back into the front ranks of the heavyweight boxers.

Out of action a year due to a serious stomach illness, Nova said he would be ready soon for a crack at Max Baer, Tony Galento or anyone else in a campaign to get at champion Joe Louis.

Nova stopped Baer once but was eased out of the contenders' picture by Galento. When madcap Maxie battered Galento into submission three nights ago, Nova was asked where they left him.

"Up in a lumber camp, training," said Nova promptly.

"Incidentally," Lou added, "that Galento is a worm."

Elaborating, he said the New Jersey jellyroll "goes beyond even bad ethics in the ring. I don't mind saying that there is one fighter I don't like. That's Galento."

Tigers Break Even With Indians In Double Bill

DETROIT, July 5.—Cleveland Indians lost and then regained the American League lead yesterday by splitting a double-header with Detroit Tigers before a roaring, partisan crowd of 57,633, largest ever to see a baseball game at Briggs Stadium.

Tommy Bridges' superb five-hit pitching and a homer by Rudy York with one man on, helped Detroit take the opener 5-3.

The Indians had to go 11 innings to win a pitching battle in the nightcap 2-1. A single by Roy Weatherly, sacrifice by Ray Mack and a one-base drive by Roy (Beau) Bell, former Tiger, accounted for the deciding run.

E.A.C. Softballers Blank Maccabees: Medico-Welders Swamp Centrals

THE E. A. C. softball team got revenge for several previous set-backs by the Maccabees last night, beating them 4-0, and now head the junior men's league for the first time this year.

Bell held the loser to three hits and although the E.A.C. nine managed to collect as many errors as they did runs, they helped Bell to white-wash the opposition by cracking out seven lusty hits. Bell, in addition got two hits on his own account in twice at bat and Sheckter also collected two in three trips.

Three of the E.A.C. runs came in the fifth. Biefgen doubled, Kilburn bunted safely and one came in from Dzora's long sacrifice fly. Bell then hit and Bailey followed filling the bases. On a fielder's choice Isaac was safe, but Kilburn was forced at the plate. Cox and McFadyen drew walks forcing in two runs.

In the seventh Bell hit to right field, went to second on Isaac's sacrifice and completed the circuit on Cox's double.

In last night's senior softball, the Medico-Welders ran away with the Centrals 10-2. Griffith allowing only three hits while his team-mates were collecting a whole basketful.

Out of the total of 13 safeties made by the Welders, Melnyk accounted for five in the same number of times at bat. Dalmar got a triple and a double in his three tries and Cruthers also got two out of three. Ball got two in four.

Centrals did some smart work in the field at that, as they pulled off two double plays, one in the fourth when Grassick caught a fly and whipped the ball to third catching O'Connor, and the other in the seventh, the play being Grassick to Gray to Stevenson. The Medicos got a double killing in the third, Griffith snaring a grounder to retire runners at both second and first.

Sports Editor Leaves For Army

OTTAWA, July 5 — Tommy Shields, sports editor of the Citizen and a member of the sports department the past 12 years, left the Ottawa daily newspaper yesterday to take a commission in the Canadian Active Service Force.

Jack Koffman will be acting sports editor during the absence of Shields, a veteran of the first Great War, former professional hockey player and well known as a sports radio announcer.

NOTED FANCIER TO JUDGE DOGS AT EXHIBITION

Internationally known dog fancier and judge, Arthur W. Wright, Vancouver, has been appointed judge of all breeds at the 31st annual dog show sponsored by the Edmonton Exhibition Association at the summer fair which opens on Monday July 15.

Announcement of Mr. Wright's appointment was made by Harry Nash, president of the Edmonton Dog Fanciers' Association, under which auspices the show will be operated. Mr. Wright, a former Edmontonian, has judged at many of the major shows in Canada, and has also officiated in several sporting dog classes in the United States.

Superintendency of the show will be in the hands of Alderman M. B. McColl and J. R. Benson.

It is anticipated that very heavy entries will be received in the cocker spaniel classes, it being intimated already that more than 300 entries will be made in these classes alone.

Entries in the other classes are expected to be above the average this year, with competition coming from the Pacific coast kennels and from fanciers in Saskatoon, Regina and Winnipeg.

Track Record Set

LOS ANGELES, July 5.—Valdina Farms' Viscounty set a new track record of 1:40 over a mile and one-eighth Hollywood Park route yesterday to capture the $13,000 Inglewood handicap purse by four lengths over Hysterical. Specify was third by a nose.

Dodge Defeats Gray In Gruelling Match

DODGE eliminated Gray Thursday to go into the men's semi-final in the district junior tennis tournament at the Glenora club. He will meet Crockett today and the survivor will go up against the winner of Stott and Hall.

Dodge and Gray put up a real exhibition of tennis. Both were hitting hard and well and it took three sets before Gray was eliminated 6-3, 6-8, 8-6.

Crockett and Swingle also had to go three sets and while the former was very steady, this was dominated by Swingle's hard hitting. Crockett took the match 6-4, 4-6, 6-4. Hal showed good judgment in his placement shots and Lindsay weakened after the first set and went out 4-6, 6-1, 6-1.

Today will see finals played in the boys', girls', and junior ladies' events.

YESTERDAY'S RESULTS

REGINA GOLFER IN DOUBLE WIN

MOOSE Jaw, Sask., July 5.—Wilf Greenwood, slender professional of the Regina Wascana Club, hit the jackpot at the Saskatchewan Golf Tournament being staged here this week. He captured both the open and pro titles.

Greenwood, a senior hockey referee in the winter months, bagged pro honors on a 72-hole total of 292, one stroke better than Tom Ross, another Reginan, who tied Greenwood for open laurels but lost out in an extra round.

PLANS SPEED ON PLACEMENT OF EVACUEES

Finance sub-committee named includes Mr. Milner, chairman, Mr. Friedman, Mrs. R. C. Marshall and John Michaels.

ORGANIZATIONS

Among the organizations represented at the meeting were: provincial government; University of Alberta; Imperial Order Daughters of the Empire; Women's Christian Temperance union; Edmonton Ministerial association; Roman Catholic church; Salvation Army; Federation of University Women; Council of Social Agencies; Rotary and Kiwanis clubs; Bnai Brith society; Women's International league; Canadian Corps association; Jewish Council of Women; Federation of Community Leagues, Alberta conference of the United Church of Canada.

Co-operation of provincial authorities was assured by Premier Aberhart in an address at the meeting. He said every citizen has an opportunity to co-operate in the work.

Minister of health and relief, Hon. Dr. W. W. Cross outlined the development of the evacuee plan in exchanges between dominion and British governments and in June conferences of dominion and provincial authorities in Ottawa. Plans for the removal of as many as 200,000 children to Canada were indicated in the latest information from Hon. T. A. Crerar, minister of mines and resources, he said. Mr. Crerar is in charge of evacuee work in the Dominion.

Members of the committee in charge of the work in the province are Dr. Macdonald, chairman; T. R. Blaine, superintendent of child welfare for Alberta; C. B. Hill, assistant superintendent; Lieut.-Col. D. H. Tomlinson, of Calgary, and Robert Muir, of Edmonton, respectively provincial commissioner and Edmonton secretary-manager of the Canadian Red Cross society; Campbell Fraser, Edmonton; Dr. W. A. Park and J. O. McLeod, Calgary.

Dr. Bow stressed that the Dominion authorities will be fully responsible for the children and will defray the responsibility to the provinces for their respective quotas. Camrose Normal school has been chosen as one Alberta distributing centre, where the children aged from five to 15 years, will be received and distributed to Alberta homes.

The provincial committee will finance its work by donations as far as possible to the Dominion and if possible by the Red Cross with the balance to be taken care of out of provincial revenues.

Medical and hospitalization will be provided for the children by agencies outside the home in which they are placed, and each child will be given thorough medical examination before being sent to his or her temporary home.

CHECK HOMES

All homes applying for children will be checked by the child welfare department for suitability, and distribution of children will be made at the discretion of the provincial authorities.

Dr. Macdonald said Lt. Col. Tomlinson, provincial commissioner of the Red Cross, has agreed to push formation of local committees in other parts of the province by making use of the established and widespread Red Cross branch organization.

T. R. Blaine reported 10,000 application forms have been printed and distributed throughout Alberta. Only 200 have been filled and returned, but more than 1,000 forms have been sent out in response to direct inquiries, or applications made to the department by letter, he said.

Mr. Michaels offered office facilities in his Jasper avenue news stand for use by the provincial committee and also, temporarily, by the city committee.

The meeting agreed a most immediate necessity is getting donations of supplies and funds for equipping and staffing the Camrose Normal school as distributing centre and arranging for transportation from the centre to the homes in various parts of the province.

Mr. Imrie suggested that it would be best to raise initial funds by private subscriptions from a few persons instead of launching a big public appeal campaign.

Points For Parents

By EDYTH THOMAS WALLACE

Mother: "My husband and I wish to help Tom learn how to play with other children in every way that we can. We appreciate your interest in him and his chance to play here."

Mother: "The playground director sent me a note asking one of us to come and talk to him. He says Tom is mean to the smaller children. I won't go near such a prejudiced man!"

Taking the attitude that the other person is always to blame does not help the adjustment of one's own child.

SIX COMPANIES INCORPORATED IN CITY AND DISTRICT

Six new companies with head offices in this city and district, have been incorporated under Alberta statutes, it was announced Friday. Four companies have head offices here. Several companies have been incorporated in other parts of the province.

Edmonton companies incorporated are:

People's Insurance Claims Association, Ltd., capitalized at 20,000 shares of no par value, which may be sold at $1 each.

Credit Arcade Ltd., capitalized at $100,000 divided into 1,000 shares of $100 each.

Payne Mining and Exploration Company Ltd., capitalized at $50,000 without nominal or par value.

W. D. Taylor Ltd., capitalized at $20,000, divided into 400 shares of $50 each.

Also incorporated is the K. and M. Seed Co. Ltd. of Sangudo, capitalized at $20,000, divided into 200 shares with a nominal or par value of $100 each.

Edwards Garage Ltd. of Rocky Mountain House has been incorporated for $20,000, divided into 200 shares of nominal or par value.

WINGS NORTH

Chief Pilot Bob Randall is scheduled to arrive back in Edmonton with Mackenzie Air Service's new twin-engined Barkley-Grow airliner after spending the night at Yellowknife. Archie McMullen is northbound for Aklavik from Fort Smith, while Al Brown is southbound from Fort Smith. Page MacPhee is at Goldfields and George Gilmour is freighting out of Yellowknife on charter.

North Sawle arrived at the Canadian Airways river base from Yellowknife Thursday evening with seven passengers in the twin-motored Beechcraft. Included on the passenger list was G. Fabine of Eldorado mines. Joe Irwin arrived from Radium the same evening with six passengers and Alf Caywood is weatherbound at Yellowknife enroute to Coppermine. McNeil is southbound from Yellowknife for Goldfields.

* * *

Alex Dame of Yukon Southern is northbound for Fort St. James and Mason Creek with freight and express, while Don Patry is out of Fort St. John with freight for Ft. Nelson.

Camrose School Is Ready For Evacuees

Declaring that the Camrose normal school is well set up for use as a dormitory for receiving and distributing refugee children from the British Isles and that no major important alterations will be required, T. R. Blaine, superintendent of child welfare for the province, was back at his office Friday, after an inspection of the Camrose building Thursday.

He was accompanied by Robert Muir, of the Alberta branch of the Canadian Red Cross Society, who is a member of the provincial committee appointed by Hon. Dr. W. W. Cross, minister of health and in charge of relief, to administer welfare of the children.

On Friday, C. B. H. N. Monkman, deputy minister of public works and W. D. Stacey, superintendent of provincial buildings, visited Camrose to look over the school.

Mr. Blaine said that the building would be ready to receive the first group of children, expected to reach here by July 18.

The children will come to this city first, then will be taken to Camrose, from which point they will be sent to the homes in which they may reside for the duration of the war and one year thereafter.

Fair And Warm Is Friday Forecast In City District

Citizens awoke Friday to find Old Sol bravely trying to shine his way through a cloudy sky. And according to weather experts the sun will win through today as they forecast "fair and moderately warm weather" for Friday.

Temperatures for Thursday were the lowest for the week. High mark for the day was 68 above, while the low was 45 above. Average temperature for the day was 56 above, five degrees lower than the average for the same day a year ago.

Friday at 8:30 a.m., the thermometer showed a reading of 57 above, while the barometer read 27.76 inches unaltered.

A light shower fell yesterday at Fort St. John, while showers fell that night at Peace Coope. All points in the near north reported clear skies Friday morning with slight westerly breezes blowing.

Mosley May Be Sent To Canada

LONDON, July 5.—Sir John Anderson, home secretary, told the House of Commons Thursday the government is considering the removal of Sir Oswald Mosley and other imprisoned friends of Fascism to the Dominions to place them beyond the reach of rescue by possible invaders.

Closed Season On Fishing Extended At Lac la Biche

Extension of the closed season on fishing at Lac la Biche so that the date of recommencement will be August 16 next, was announced Friday by Hon. D. B. Mullen, minister of agriculture.

Extension of the closed season was made "in the public interest to meet changing conditions."

At the same time, Mr. Mullen announced that commercial fishing in Beaver, Elinor and Ironwood lakes would run concurrently with the season on Lac la Biche.

Mr. Mullen also declared that the following stream are now open for angling: Boivin, also called Boivin lake, near the headwaters of the south fork of the Drywood river.

Cavalry Units To Ride Motorcycles

OTTAWA, July 5—Two Canadian cavalry units have been authorized to train on motorcycles and are expected to begin the new training soon, it was announced by the National Defence department. The units are 17th Hussars of Montreal and the Governor General's Horse Guards of Toronto.

Teacher Arrested

CALGARY, July 5—Eric Coffin, school teacher of the Orkney district near Drumheller, was arrested by R.C.M.P. near High River, Wednesday evening under section 39A of the Defence of Canada Regulations. His trial will be arranged later, presumably to be held at Drumheller.

GRASSHOPPER MENACE NOW DECREASING

Considerable Damage In Southeast Alberta, Report Reveals

Infestation by grasshoppers of Alberta's grain fields has passed over the peak and is now receding, according to provincial agriculture department officials. Demand for poison bait to combat the menace has fallen off within the last few days.

Officials declared that hoppers have inflicted considerable damage to crops in the south-eastern part of the province, more particularly in the Manyberries district.

It was stated that damage in this area was anticipated and that the extent of the damage was no greater than expected.

With the exception of this area, officials stated that it was not expected there would be an increase in the severity of infestation or that the affected area would be enlarged.

The hot weather of recent days, it was said, was insufficient to cause the hopper situation to become aggravated or to bring about a heavy increase in the demand for poison bait.

SEVEN ENEMY FIGHTERS SHOT DOWN BY R.A.F.

CAIRO, July 5—A communique of the Royal Air Force said today that six British fighters shot down seven of nine "enemy" fighters encountered yesterday afternoon.

"One of our fighters is missing but is believed to have made a forced landing on our side of the (Egyptian-Libyan) frontier," the communique said.

British fighters also met and attacked "other enemy aircraft" in another encounter, it said, with the result that one of the foe crashed in flames and another made a forced landing.

"A formation of Blenheim bombers attacked the large military camp at Bir El Gobbi yesterday evening, causing much damage," the communique added.

Work On Montreal Terminal Of C.N.R. To End Next Year

OTTAWA, July 5—All work on the new Montreal terminal of the Canadian National Railways will be completed by the autumn of 1941 and its trackage features will be in operation next spring, Transport Minister C. D. Howe informed the House of Commons last night. There was already $22,000,000 or $23,000,000 invested in the development which would be completed at a cost of another $4,000,000 or $5,000,000.

French Indo-China "Status Quo" Is Being Maintained

Find New Joy In Life Through Loved Poems

These famous lines are from "The Chambered Nautilus" by Oliver Wendell Holmes. A little mollusk which builds a new shell each year, and their inspiration. How significant, when seen through poets' eyes, life becomes! Do you remember the popular "My Garden" by Thomas Brown? It ends:

"Not God! in gardens! when the eve is cool?
Nay, but I have a sign;
'Tis very sure God walks in mine!"

Even love seems more beautiful when you read the sonnet by Elizabeth Browning, which begins: "How do I love thee? Let me count the ways.

I love thee to the depth and breadth and height
My soul can reach—"

Another favorite is Stevenson's "Requiem," which ends:

"This be the verse you grave for me:
Here he lies where he longed to be;
Home is the sailor, home from sea,
And the hunter home from the hill."

These poems and others loved all over the world are given complete in our 32-page booklet, By Burns, Poe, Wordsworth, Riley, Longfellow, other popular poets. Send 15c in coins for your copy of "World's Best-Loved Poems" to The Edmonton Bulletin, Home Service, Edmonton, Alberta. Be sure to write plainly your name, address, and the name of booklet.

Please allow a week or ten days for delivery.

Bomb Dropped On Alexandria Home Of King Farouk

CAIRO, Egypt, July 5—A naval communique said one of 32 bombs dropped in Alexandria yesterday fell on the estate of King Farouk. It was not stated whether any damage was caused.

The official statement:

"About 32 bombs were dropped, only slight damage being caused. One bomb fell on the King's estate. Casualties caused by splinters were three killed and four slightly wounded."

Tomas MacCurtain Execution Is Set Back To July 13

DUBLIN, July 5—It was announced last night that the execution of Thomas MacCurtain, 22-year-old son of a former Lord Mayor of Cork, has been postponed until July 12. He was erroneously reported to have been hanged yesterday.

MacCurtain was originally scheduled to be hanged tomorrow for the murder of a detective.

LOSS OF MARKET FORCES CLOSING ELDORADO MINE

Successive losses of European markets through Germanic conquest has so curtailed export of uranium that it has been found necessary to discontinue operations at the Eldorado mine, Gilbert Labine, president of the Eldorado Company, stated Friday morning on his return from a trip to the Great Bear lake mining property.

It had been the company's intention to continue operation this year, and supplies had been sent in, but the successive sweep of Nazi forces through Norway, the Netherlands, Denmark, Belgium and the collapse of France so restricted markets that retrenchment was found necessary.

Mr. Labine stated there was sufficient ore in storage at the Port Hope plant, at mine head and other points along Great Bear ake, to keep the refinery at Port Hope working to capacity for three years.

Approximately 100 men were employed at the Great Bear plant, he stated, and most of them have come out while many have found work at Yellowknife and other mining centres in the north. Many of the men have gone east to other jobs in the Eldorado set-up.

Mr. Labine will stop-over in Edmonton for several days after which he will visit company holdings in the Beresford Lake territory working on the property.

NELSON SAMMY IS HANGED FOR POLICE DEATH

REGINA, July 5—Nelson Sammy's brief but spectacular career of crime came to an end on the gallows at Regina jail early today when the 35-year-old White Bear reserve Indian was hanged for the murder of Constable W. E. Rhodenizer, Royal Canadian Mounted Police, near Carlyle in August, 1939. He was pronounced dead at 12:25 a.m., M.S.T.

Sammy's aged mother spent a few hours with her son at the jail Thursday afternoon. After spending the morning waiting at the department of Indian affairs to obtain permission to visit him.

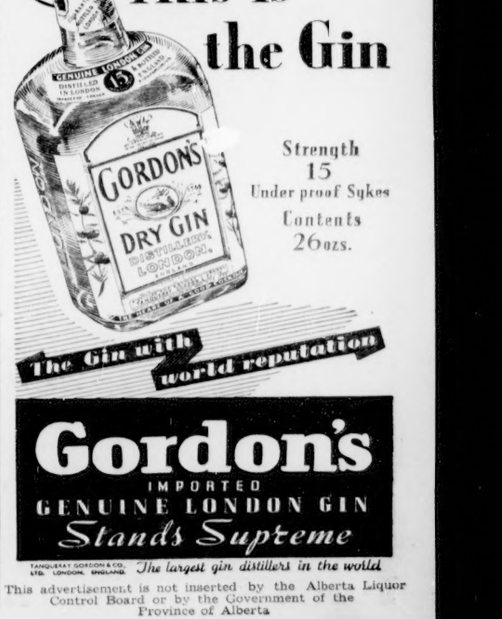

Sammy was first convicted of manslaughter in the deaths of his wife and her parents and sentenced to 20 years in the penitentiary, but later, at the following court sitting at Arcola, he was tried for the murder of Constable Rhodenizer, found guilty and sentenced to be hanged.

NEW CHANGES ANNOUNCED IN CANADA ARMY

Major-General Crerar To Be Vice-Chief Of Staff In Dominion

OTTAWA, July 5—A number of important changes in senior military appointments were announced last night by Acting Defence Minister C. G. Power, including the appointment of Maj.-Gen. H. D. G. Crerar, D.S.O., senior combatant officer, Canadian military headquarters in Great Britain, to be vice chief of the general staff in Canada.

Brigadier P. J. Montague, C.M.G., D.S.O., M.C., V.D., deputy adjutant-general Canadian military headquarters in Great Britain, succeeds Maj.-Gen. Crerar.

ADJUTANT-GENERAL

Brigadier B. W. Browne, D.S.O., M.C., recently reported to Ottawa from district officer commander commanding Military District No. 10 at Winnipeg to assume the duties of deputy chief of the general staff, is named adjutant-general.

He succeeds Maj.-Gen. H. F. Hertzberg, C.M.G., D.S.O., M.C., who is appointed commandant of the Royal Military College of Canada at Kingston, Ont.

Brigadier K. Stuart, D.S.O., M.C., now commandant of the Royal Military College is appointed director general of engineer services at national defence headquarters in Ottawa.

Brigadier Stuart replaces Brigadier E. J. C. Buchan, M.C., who assumed the duties of quartermaster-general early last April.

ACTS TEMPORARILY

The new director general of engineer services will take over the duties of deputy chief of the general staff pending the arrival of Maj.-Gen. Crerar from England.

Brigadier F. F. Eedie Armstrong, deputy adjutant-general at national defence headquarters is appointed district officer commanding Military District No. 3, Kingston, replacing Brigadier H. E. Boak, D.S.O., who will shortly proceed on leave pending retirement to pension on completion of the maximum period of service.

French-Owned Alberta Horses Without Country

British United Press
Exclusive to Edmonton Bulletin

LETHBRIDGE, July 5.—Signing of the armistices by France left several hundred horses "without a country" in Alberta. The animals had been purchased by a French Government army remount commission before the Petain government sought peace.

The commission had advertised for others. Then came word of peace on the continent. Captain Count de Hubert de Montal, head of the commission, hurriedly sent word to Alberta that he would wait to bring their charges to a proposed sale.

The horses already purchased for France were placed in a corral to await final disposition. It was believed their purchase might be transferred to the British Government. Before coming to Canada, the remount commission bought 6,000 horses and 1,000 mules from the United States. It was understood most of them were already en route overseas when the armistice was signed.

Budget Asking Greatest Sacrifices Meets Least Criticism By Canadians

By B. T. RICHARDSON
Edmonton Bulletin Ottawa Bureau

OTTAWA, July 5—First reactions to the Ralston billion-dollar budget, as they were reported to Ottawa disclosed the startling paradox that the budget that imposed the greatest sacrifices upon the Canadian people has been received with the least criticism possibly in the history of Canadian budgets.

This fact has much more than ordinary significance, and it does not mean that the Canadian people have lost their traditional facility for objecting to taxes and grumbling about governmental expenditures. It is taken to mean that the home front has measured up to the call that Canada's war effort has begun to draw sustaining power from new depths of courage and fortitude that lie hidden in easier days of peace.

ECONOMY STANDS STRAIN

Government circles feel that the country has rallied in the best tradition of Canada. But just as important and just as gratifying is the discovery that Canada's economy possesses the capacity of adaptability to take in its stride the high taxes, enormous outlays and the unforeseen drain upon its present right to free initiative that were contained in the budget.

In the cause of war, Canada is driving rapidly towards economic nationalism, or economic totalitarianism, or whatever you like to call it. It is the complete state that is rising in Canada, and few on Parliament Hill have time to consider what the end will be beyond the immediate end which is to win the war.

Speakers in the budget debate are finding it difficult to adjust themselves to the new situation. Joseph H. Harris (Cons., Danforth) who spoke as financial critic for the Conservative opposition, advocated more self-sufficiency and a system of import and export boards, though he disliked the philosophy of which these things are a part. But while the Conservative opposition has lined up unwillingly in the drive for regimentation, the parties that have stood for a measure of the compulsory state and free enterprise are pushing with all their might for planned economy. Mr. J. Coldwell, acting leader of the Co-operative Commonwealth Federation, warned that a new continental economy under Nazi control was likely to rise in Europe, that the answer on this side of the Atlantic should be a counter-planned continental economy.

COULD BE HIGHER

With these opinions on the one side of parliament and the evidence of controls and compulsion to be found in the government's own program, all that the system of free enterprise gets in Canada is these days is lip service. Every high source and the promise of resurrection when it's all over.

Parliament's criticism of the Ralston budget is that its the taxes are too high, but that they could have been put higher without exhausting the pocketbooks of the taxpayers. Members know that the war is going to cost a lot of money, and the prevailing sentiment among them is that the safest policy is pay-as-you-go and leave as little war debt behind as possible. The generation that pays for the war in the lives of its men is going to pay as much as possible of the bill of costs.

The Ralston budget, as several speakers have noted, did not aim at the farmers. Reasons for this are becoming clear. Agriculture is losing its overseas markets and special measures will be required to take care of agricultural surpluses. Agriculture is already bearing heavy costs of the war effort in a multitude of ways.

VITAL FOOD ROLE

But the vital role of food-producing industries in Canada will not be reached perhaps until the peace is signed. Food stocks are accumulating rapidly in this country and they are an embarrassment. But will they remain so for long? No industry in the country faces more factors of impermanence than may be found in the outlook for wheat at the present time. So Canada must sustain the wheat industry in anticipation of the day when once again this country will feed a starving world.

Coastal Rum Runners Now Standing Behind Canadian Navy's Guns

British United Press
Exclusive to Edmonton Bulletin

OTTAWA, July 5—Some of the most daring skippers who ever ran rum along the coast and bays of Canada and the United States are serving in ships of the Canadian navy, side by side with men who hunted them on patrol boats.

When the Royal Canadian Mounted Police patrol boats, which had been engaged in keeping down liquor smuggling, were called in after the outbreak of war, officials in Ottawa expected an increase in the illicit traffic.

None came, and officials were mystified until one of the members of the patrol boat service, who had been transferred to naval duty, enlightened them.

"Most of our old friends are at present serving in the navy," he said.

"It is surprising how these fellows turn right around when the country becomes tangled with a foreign power. They are as determined on the law-enforcement body of Canada. They are ready to fight side by side with their former enemies and forget all differences in their one desire to get some action."

KILLAM MAN IS AGAIN OFFICER OF CO-OP. UNION

WINNIPEG, July 5.—The entire slate of last year's officer's were re-elected Thursday at the final session here of the co-operative union of Canada's annual congress.

Re-elected were President W. C. Good, Paris, Ont., Vice-Presidents, William Halsall, Killam, Alta., Robert Wood, Armstrong, B.C., C. W. Deaver, Davidson, Sask.

Canada's stand in the fight to preserve democracy has the sympathy of co-operative organization members in the United States, H. A. Cowden, Kansas City, vice-president of the Co-Operative League of the United States, told delegates.

"Co-operators of the United States are sympathetic to Canada at this time of crisis although we may not show it as you would like us to show it," he said.

BRITAIN NEVER WILL RAISE THE FLAG OF TRUCE

LONDON, July 5—Hugh Dalton, minister of economic welfare, told a foreign press association luncheon Thursday that Britain would "fight, and if necessary die, before she ever would raise the white flag of surrender."

Britain granted Italy as "still a potential ally."

"I think Italians will come to their senses quicker than Germans —they have better sense to come to," he declared.

Last Fortress Of France Surrenders

BERNE, Switzerland, July 5.—France's "Gibraltar of the Rhone" —the last fort in continental France to be flying the tricolor, held by a well-armed and well-equipped garrison—fell Wednesday.

Belfast Evacuation

BELFAST, July 5. — Voluntary departure of school children from Belfast to less-populated havens in the countryside will start July 7, it was announced Thursday.

Correspondence Courses For Army To Start In Fall

OTTAWA, July 5.—Correspondence courses in five different lines of studies for troops in training in Canada may be ready for distribution by September, it was announced last night by Lt.-Col. Wilfrid Bovey of Montreal, national chairman of the education division of the Canadian Legion War Services.

The courses will be in technical, vocational, elementary, high school and academic studies.

J. W. Gibson, Victoria, director of correspondence instruction for the British Columbia department of education, has been loaned to the C.L.W.S. for a few months to adapt these courses to army requirements.

Athlone President Canada Red Cross

TORONTO, July 5.—Dr. Fred W. Routley, national commissioner of the Canadian Red Cross society, announced last night that Lord Athlone, governor-general, had accepted the presidency of the society in Canada. The office has been vacant since the death of Lord Tweedsmuir.

Press Of Britain Gives Support To Royal Navy's Seizure Of French Fleet

By HAROLD FAIR
Canadian Press Staff Writer

LONDON, July 5—The bulk of Britain's press today soberly supported the government's stern measures to prevent the French fleet from falling to the dictators. The Daily Mirror protested action should have been taken long ago.

There was no gloating in the newspapers over what had been done, just a general expression of sadness that the government's action should have forced the government to take the important step.

CARTOONISTS UNRESTRAINED

Cartoonists were less restrained than editorial writers. The Daily Herald's Whitelaw in a cartoon headed "Britannia Waives the Rules" showed Britannia seated at a table with "French Fleet" sailing aloft on the prongs of her trident a chicken labelled "French fleet" just removed from a platter which Premier Petain was preparing to hand to Adolf Hitler seated at a nearby table table.

Strube in the Daily Express had a British tar aboard a battleship named "French Navy" hanging out an "out-of-ass-management" placard while the Dud and Hitler stand on the dock waving a note reading: "Hand to the bearer, one French navy," signed Petain.

The Times said: "There can be little pleasure in contemplating this defeat of enemies whom we believe to be at heart our friends and who are fighting not for their country but for a point of honor which is reeled in front of them by their political chiefs. But it is satisfactory that the expectations, based by the enemy on naval clauses in his distasted armistice, largely have been foiled."

AGENTS OF ENEMY

The paper said Petain and his ministers in surrendering did not become neutral, but changed sides and now are agents of the enemy, so any action the British can take to prevent execution of their orders has justification.

The Daily Herald opened its editorial with the words "It had to be" and reiterated the phrase several times. It added: "Every high, honest motive made our government's decision inescapable." When Britain is grappling to the death alone against enemy forces, the Herald said, "we could not possibly consent that their armory should be reinforced by the surrendered naval might of France."

The Daily Mail regarded it as a "bitter thing" that Britain should be compelled to fight the first full-scale naval action of this war against friends, adding that "deeply though we deplore the necessity, the entire British Empire completely support the government action."

The Mirror protesting the long wait for news of "what used to be the French fleet," said "We know now after long silence (we doubt that something has been done at last."

The Daily Express paid tribute to Prime Minister Churchill's leadership. Admitting that he and every man in parliament was shocked by the latest decision, the newspaper said the nation rejoices in the inspiration of a leader with a capacity for ruthless action.

HORRIBLE BUT NECESSARY

"Mr. Churchill has once more shown himself a rough, tough leader of our brave fighting men. He has shown that the England which was thought to be so old, staid, respectable, still has the smash, grab and fighting spirit of Drake, Raleigh, Nelson and Borough.

The News Chronicle called the action horrible but necessary, placing the blame squarely on the Petain government.

The Daily Telegraph condemned the Bordeaux government's treachery and said "stern approval will be the temper of the country as it reads the Churchill account" of the measures taken.
